U.N. Economic Program Moving to Crisis

Big Joe and Little Joe

Ring Champ Joe Louis got his first look at Joe, Jr., at his home in Chicago after Mrs. Louis and the baby flew back from Mexico City, where Little Joe was born. Here Joe sizes up his son while daughter Jackie and Mrs. Louis look on.

Governor-General Gets 25-Pound Salmon

Canada's governor-general, Viscount Alexander, who passed through Edmonton last Saturday on his way to Jasper for a two-week vacation is shown above with the 25-pound salmon he caught recently on New Brunswick's famed Restigouche river. The fish gave him plenty of thrills and was only taken after a desperate struggle which twice unseated his reel.

After Soviet, Western Split

By Max Harrelson

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8—(AP)—The spilt between Russia and the Western Powers over the Marshall Plan is expected to bring into the open within the next two weeks an explosive situation, smouldering for months in key economic organs of the United Nations.

ALTHOUGH UN officials were reluctant to comment, there seemed little doubt that the entire economic program of the world organization was headed toward a major crisis.

The big blow-off was looked for at the opening of the economic and social council's summer session here July 19—if not before. It could come at the meeting of the UN economic commission for Europe now in progress in Geneva.

The gravity of the situation was emphasized by these developments:

1. Reports that Russia might boycott a meeting of the UN Asiatic and Far Eastern Economic Commission's committee beginning here on Thursday.

2. Refusal of Russia to attend a special cereals conference, arranged by the Food and Agricultural Organization, in Paris, Wednesday.

3. Absence of Russia from the international Trade Conference now going on in Geneva.

4. Withdrawal of Yugoslavia, Monday, from membership in the International Labor Office.

Radical Divorce Changes Reported

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, July 8—A radical change in Canadian divorce practice is about to be proposed to the House of Commons by Rt. Hon. L. S. St. Laurent, minister of external affairs, according to sources close to the government.

The proposal is that the Senate in future will hear no divorce applications on the ground of adultery until a court order has first been issued substantiating the charge.

Since all the provinces except Quebec and PEI have divorce laws of their own, 99 per cent of all divorce cases heard by the Senate come from Quebec.

The proposed change in the law is said to stem principally from the hot attack made every year for several sessions past by Ralph Maybank (Lib, Winnipeg North Centre). As the member charged with the duty of bringing the Senate divorce bills to the house for approval, Mr. Maybank has constantly denounced the system as injurious to the reputation of the House, the Senate of Canada and Quebec.

At present, in the province of Quebec divorce is not legally recognized. However, a husband proving his wife guilty of adultery anywhere can procure a separation of bed and board by the Quebec courts. But an aggrieved wife has to prove the offence took place in their own home.

Seek Readjustment Municipal Status

By DOUGLAS GREEN

WINNIPEG, July 8—(CP)—The existing "inferior status" of Canadian municipalities in relation to federal and provincial governments has "found us almost weaponless," and in need of the backing of a strong public opinion, Mayor Garnet Coulter of Winnipeg told the 10th annual convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities today.

Efforts of the federation's executive have been directed to a readjustment of the status of municipalities and a clarification of the role of municipal government.

"We need to have a strong, public opinion to break through the stone wall of indifference," said Mr. Coulter, president of the CFMN, in addressing more than 300 delegates attending opening session of its three-day convention.

He said the potential importance of the federation "cannot be estimated, and should not be underestimated. Its budget is inadequate for its purposes and Canada's geography hampers it in carrying out objectives."

Soviet Warns Stand May Bring Collapse

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8—(AP)—Russia denied today all charges that Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia were primarily to blame for the Balkan disorders and called on the United Nations Security Council to revise the findings of its Balkan investigating commission.

LAKE SUCCESS, July 8—(AP)—The western powers stood firmly behind an American blueprint for arms reduction discussions today despite a Russian warning that their course would lead to collapse of the whole armaments regulation program.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko gave his warning before the United Nations Security Council in a new effort to revive the Soviet working plan which already had been rejected by the commission for armaments.

His challenge was taken up promptly by French Delegate Alexandre Parodi and Herschel V. Johnson, United States representative, who announced their opposition to any substitute for the American plan.

THE VOTE WAS NINE to zero, with Russia and Poland abstaining.

Gromyko insisted that no program for arms regulation could succeed unless the plan was linked directly with an absolute prohibition of atomic weapons.

He declared that the United States plan approved by the commission did not link the problems of arms reduction and the banning of atomic weapons and offered no basis for a solution.

Gromyko opened debate on the arms question as delegates awaited another major declaration from him later in the day. He is to reply to United States and British demands for action to restore order in the Balkans.

SOME DELEGATES saw in his speech an indication that he was preparing to invoke the veto to block approval of the United States plan. Thus the threat of a veto hung over both the United States arms plan and a United States plan for stabilizing the Balkan situation.

The big question was whether Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko would invoke the veto to block an American proposal to set up a UN watch along Greece's northern border. Some delegates expressed belief Gromyko might give a definite answer to this question.

The British delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, already has declared that if the Security Council could not solve the Balkan problem, the United Nations might as well "pack up and disband."

THE NATURE of Gromyko's statement was carefully guarded, but his associates disclosed that he would speak in Russian, which in recent months he has reserved for major declarations.

There was little doubt that Gromyko would defend the three Soviet satellites—Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia—against charges that they were largely to blame for the Balkan troubles. He also was expected to deliver a vigorous attack on Greece.

Britain May Cut Imports 25 Pct.

London, July 8 — (Reuters) — Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, frankly warned the House of Commons today that Britain's drastic shortage of dollars might give her no other alternative but to slash her imports to 25 per cent below the level now contemplated in the new austerity import program.

He made it clear that "we cannot indefinitely go on importing what we cannot pay for." If Britain was forced to take this step it would be "a tragically bad day" for Europe and for the world's hopes of prosperity.

Morrison announced that there were encouraging signs such as the improvement in world grain production. As boost in Britain's textile production which made it possible for Britons to get a new issue of clothing coupons Oct. 1 instead of Nov. 1, and a sign that while some prices would rise higher in world markets, certain prices were already tending to break.

99 Slightly Hurt In Train Collision

CHICAGO, July 8 — (AP) — Ninety-nine passengers — including several major league baseball stars—were injured, most of them only slightly, in a train collision south of Chicago's loop area late yesterday. About 125 others aboard a Baltimore & Ohio train, the Shenandoah, were shaken up when it rammed into a switch engine near Grand Central Station. Pitcher Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe and second baseman Emil Verban of the Philadelphia National League club, were jolted severely but expected to play in Tuesday's all-star game at Wrigley Field.

Bevin Indicates in Address:

Door Still Open for Russia To Join in Aid Program

LONDON, July 8 — (AP) —Foreign Secretary Bevin indicated today that the door still was open for Russia to join in implementation of the Marshall program of American aid to Europe.

HE SAID THE plan of economic construction "may yet make the biggest contribution to the unity of the peoples of Europe" and added:

"Europe is bleeding; it must be stopped."

Without mentioning Russia by name, but making his reference unmistakable, Bevin repeated in an address to a luncheon club the statement he made after the recent three-power Paris conference broke up—that Great Britain "will cooperate with those who will cooperate but will keep the door open for those who will not in the hope that they will."

One has to prevent oneself from becoming annoyed and irritated," he said. "In these days, if you immediately allow that to occupy your mind, you have sown the seeds of another struggle."

"THERE IS A prospect and a very happy prospect now of approaching the problems of Europe

Two New Drilling Sites Announced

Imperial Oil Company officials in Edmonton announced Tuesday two new drilling locations in the Leduc sector of the Edmonton oil fields. The sites, to be known as Leduc No. 10 and No. 11, bring to 21 the total number under operation at present. These are in addition to the company's four Leduc producing wells.

The No. 10, spudded in Tuesday, is about one quarter mile west of No. 3 producer and will be drilled for gas only as a supply well for the British America Pyrcz No. 1. The No. 11 well will be an offset to Imperial's No. 5, located one quarter mile north. This site is awaiting removal of drilling equipment from No. 5 when it is completed.

The company's No. 5 well was still bottomed Tuesday at 5,020 feet while mechanical repairs were

Recommendations On Radio Given

By CHESTER BLOOM

Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA, July 8—Recommendations of the radio committee of the House planned to be reported tonight embody the following principal points: The committee recommends against setting up an independent commission to supervise both the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and privately-owned radio stations; CBC to continue to regulate broadcasting.

Meeting of the CBC Board of Governors to be held in public except where the public interest requires otherwise; more publicity to be given to the board's decision and reasons therefor.

NO DISCRIMINATION against newspapers applying for a radio broadcast license; newspapers to be treated the same as all other applicants, but the CBC rule of no multiple ownership of radio stations is approved.

New Wage Contract Signed by Lewis

WASHINGTON, July 8—(BUP)—John L. Lewis formally signed a new wage contract today with northern and midwestern soft coal operators, sending 195,000 of the nation's 400,000 bituminous miners back to work after a brief strike.

The pact—best ever won by Lewis—covers immediately about 95 per cent of the soft coal industry.

It provides a $13.05 daily wage rate—an increase of $1.20.

The northern and midwestern miners were to go back to work as soon as possible—probably on the afternoon shifts in many cases. They technically had been on strike since midnight—the end of a 16-day vacation period—under the United Mine Workers (AFL) "No contract, no work" policy.

Miners in southern and far western pits remained on strike.

Operators in those areas have refused thus far to go along with the agreement reached between Lewis and the Northern and Illinois and Indiana operators.

There were indications however, that some of them also would sign within the next day or two—or possibly sooner.

No Doubt "Something Queer" Going On

Three Possible Explanations Of "Flying Saucers" Offered

By R. Dewitt Miller

LOS ANGELES, July 8—(BUP) — There have been thousands of reliable reports during the last 150 years of strange things seen in the sky. There are at least 100 cases in which the queer objects were said to have a "disc-like" form.

NEVER HAVE reports of strange sky phenomena been so widespread and so uniform as the "flying saucers."

On March 22, 1870, a flat, light-colored disc was observed by the ship "Lady of the Lake," then in mid-Atlantic between South America and Africa. The disc appeared to be of large size and seemed intelligently controlled. A report of it was made in the Journal of the Royal Meteorological Society and a sketch included. The sketch is strikingly similar to sketches made by observers of the flying saucers.

Other discs were seen in North Wales, Aug. 26, 1894, in India in

Heavy Casualties Reported

Police Fight Gun Battle With Rioters in Calcutta

CALCUTTA, July 8—(BUP)—Police fought a gun battle with Indian rioters in downtown Calcutta today, adding new casualties to the 50 dead and 300 injured already tabulated in the year's worst outbreak of Hindu-Moslem fighting.

LARGE GROUPS of irate Hindus and Moslems milled in the streets at noontime despite strong police and military patrol. Police opened fire. Bullets whined up and down the streets in a sharp five-minute battle until police broke up the gangs.

Wounded rioters littered the pavement. An automatic curfew was imposed on the area.

A near panic atmosphere prevailed throughout the city. Only a few buses and street cars attempted to make their normal runs.

The riot was the worst since last August, when religious groups fought for days in a frenzy of stoning, knifing, beating and arson.

YESTERDAY'S clash developed when the Moslems formed a procession carrying the body of a Moslem police officer killed by a gunman the previous night. Police dispersed the procession with tear gas and shots, but the clash had spread.

Mobs halted street cars, pulled out passengers and beat them. The cars were set afire.

Death Sentences On Jews Confirmed

JERUSALEM, July 8—(BUP)—The British military commander, confirmed death sentences against three Jewish underground members today despite a United Nations committee warning that their execution might hinder its work.

MacMillan upheld the sentences pronounced by a military court June 16 against three youthful Irgun Zvai Leumi members for the Acre prison raid.

Officials believed the commander's action would bring an end to Irgun's truce declared for the duration of the UN investigating committee's stay.

Army reinforcements were rushed to the gates of British security compounds in Jerusalem. Hundreds of soldiers were posted around Acre prison to resist a possible Irgun bid to free the doomed men. Police and troops were warned against underground kidnap attempts.

The men whose death sentences MacMillan confirmed were Meir Nakar, 21, a British army veteran; Yosef Weiss, a Czech, and Avshalon Haviv, 21, a philosophy student.

England Leading In Cricket Test

MANCHESTER, England, July 8—(Reuters)— England carried her overnight total of 313 for four to 403 for five by the luncheon interval in the third cricket test match with South Africa today.

Will Erdich had 187 not out at the interval. Norman Yardley, who scored 41 in 65 minutes, helped Edrich to add 74 runs for the fourth wicket.

England, with five-wickets in hand, are 64 runs ahead of South Africa's first innings total of 339.

Left still overseas, and faced with the prospect of financing their own transportation to Canada were 2,000 brides and their families.

"Working Agreement" for Two Worlds Said Peace Chance

BELIEVE "ONE WORLD" DESIGN DEAD

By R. H. SHACKFORD

WASHINGTON, July 8—(BUP)—Russia's rejection of the "Marshall Plan" gave dramatic support today to American foreign policy officials who believed the wartime grand alliance was an illusion and that the late President Roosevelt's design for "one world" was dead.

Some proposed that the United States admit this publicly as it has been recognized privately in these quarters for months. They would openly seek a "working arrangement for the two worlds, hoping it would provide a 50-50 chance for peace.

Most of these officials, who are U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall's advisers, never believed that the Roosevelt concept of "one world with a co-operative Russia was practical or feasible. Roosevelt had doubts but he thought the alternative—two worlds armed to the teeth—made a trial imperative.

Russia's refusal to reach agreement on Germany, and her rejection of any role in a European economic plan, combine to support those American officials who claim that:

1. There are at least "two worlds"—led by the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.—which are irreconcilable for the forseeable future and maybe forever.

2. These two systems are destined to fierce and probably lasting political and economic competition, conflict, and worldwide rivalry in which the danger of war always is inherent but not necessarily inevitable.

3. It is not necessary to jump to the conclusion that the two systems must fight it out now to determine which is the better. But if the U.S. is to prove to Russia and the rest of the world that its system is best, it must remain constantly alerted against false moves and unfulfillable threats, indecision, disunity at home, and internal political, social and economic disintegration.

In general terms, that is probably as close as it is possible to come at this time to stating U.S. policy towards Russia.

Dr. P. R. Talbot Leaves Government

Retirement on superannuation, effective July 5, of Dr. P. R. Talbot, provincial veterinarian, was announced today by the Hon. D. B. McMillan, minister of agriculture.

Playing an important role in the development of the veterinary profession in the province, Dr. Talbot has held many official positions in the Veterinary Medical Association of Alberta. He has contributed articles to various professional journals, and is the author of a number of departmental bulletins and other publications.

In addition to his position as provincial veterinarian, he has been sessional instructor in animal science at the University of Alberta since 1928.

Mr. MacMillan paid high tribute to the long period of service which Dr. Talbot has given the department. Dr. Talbot first entered the service of the department of agriculture on a temporary basis in 1912, and in 1914 was appointed provincial veterinarian. He was superintendent of fairs in 1923, administrator of the Stallion Enrolment Act for many years, and is a recognized authority on light horses.

Dr. Talbot will continue to reside in Edmonton, and will develop farming interests at Lacombe.

On Working Conditions

Turn Down Requests Calgary Civic Group

By the unanimous recommendations of the three-man arbitration board in the wage and hours-of-work dispute between the City of Calgary and its employes, none of the three requests asked by the Calgary Federation of Civic Employes were granted, it was announced today by Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of trade and industry.

All civic employes asked a $25 per month increase in wages, a 40-hour week for those employes who worked more than that number of hours, and three weeks' holiday with pay.

The three-man arbitration board, however, did grant the following:

To all city of Calgary employes an increase in wages of $10 per month retroactive to April 7, 1947, plus a 25-cent increase per week per point rise in the cost of living index, above 124.

All hours of work will remain the same except for Calgary policemen. Their work hours will be cut from 48 to 44 hours per week. This leaves Calgary street railway employes, firemen, and policemen working 44 hours a week, with most office workers working 40 hours weekly.

Present arrangements for holidays with pay will remain in force, namely, two weeks holidays with pay for employes who have worked for the city of Calgary for one year or more, three weeks for those who have been in the civic on an economic basis," Bevin told the Rotary Club in Wandsworth, his working-class constituency.

"If built upon rightly and worked out properly, it may yet make the biggest contribution to the unity of the peoples of Europe."

Bevin declared that the Marshall offer, predicated on American assistance in the economic restoration of European countries which work together to help themselves, was purely economic.

He dismissed as political the idea for a "United States of Europe" as advocated by Winston Churchill.

"Europe is bleeding to death," Bevin said, "it must be stopped," and in the stopping of it, you have got to rule out any prejudices, either religious or ideological."

LATER IN HIS speech, he commented:

"I have heard it said . . . that the wave of a wand or political propaganda is needed to establish a United States of Europe and all will be well. But it is very difficult."

Give 133 Combines Entry Into U.S.

Permits for 133 combine outfits and crews to assist in harvesting operations in the U.S. have been granted by the provincial department of agriculture, it was announced today by R. M. Putnam, director of agricultural extension. Almost all the outfits have left the province already, and more are needed immediately.

Alberta Works Minister W. A. Fallow said last night he had no business ventures in Vermilion, Alta., at present that he did not have before he joined the provincial government.

"The statement is entirely irresponsible," said Mr. Fallow. "I had a hotel in Vermilion. I sold it when I came here and still hold a mortgage on it . . . it has nothing to do with the government."

For Private Business Ventures?

Leader of CCF Questions Use of Government Funds

OYEN, Alta., July 8—(CP)—Elmer E. Roper, Alberta CCF leader, last night challenged Premier Ernest Manning to announce whether provincial government funds have been used to finance the private business ventures of any members of the Social Credit cabinet.

IN AN ADDRESS at a CCF constituency convention, Mr. Roper said that Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, holds a $30,000 mortgage on a hotel at Vermilion, Alta., and recalled Premier Manning disclosed that Attorney-General Lucien Maynard has a $1,000 investment in a hotel at Wanham, Alta.

"What I am concerned about," the CCF leader continued, "is that this is another piece of evidence of cabinet ministers being engaged in businesses over which the government and the legislature exercise control."

Admitting that ownership of a hotel with a beer parlor is a legitimate investment, Mr. Roper contended that "a member of the government has no right to be engaged in any business so directly controlled by the government as are licensed premises."

Mr. Roper added:

"IN ALMOST every session of the legislature the members of the House must deal with questions affecting the sale of beer. No member of the government can be regarded as disinterested when such matters are before the House.

"Once more I call upon Premier Manning to clean " this situation. He should tell the public frankly how many of his ministers have financial interests in licensed premises, or in any other business in which government connections could be used for personal gain.

"He should tell the public how such interests were acquired, and particularly to what extent the treasury branches, which are directly under his own administration, have been used to finance the private business ventures of his ministers.

"IF THE PREMIER is not prepared to do this then I demand a public investigation to bring out the facts I am now asking him to give to the public."

"Flying Saucers" Seen Down Under

SYDNEY, Australia, July 8—(AP)—Strange tales of the "flying saucers" were told in Sydney today, and the Daily Telegraph headlined the story, "It had to happen here."

Several Sydney persons said they had seen disc-shaped objects shooting across the sky last night or early today.

E. J. Walters told the telegraph he and his wife saw two—"white, shiny and flat."

"The night was so clear and bright we were able to get a good look at them," he said. "They travelled very fast in a westerly direction.

China Communists Renew Attacks

PEIPING, July 8—(AP)—Chinese Communists have renewed their attacks on Chaoyang in Jehol province bordering Manchuria, government dispatches acknowledged today, and have consolidated their hold on the rail and coal centre of Pehpiao 20 miles to the northeast.

Chaoyang is on an inland rail route from Mukden, Manchuria, to Peiping. Another major route, some 55 miles nearer the coast, runs through Chinhsien (Chinchow) where some military observers have predicted another Red offensive soon.

News reports today said Communists had gathered on both sides of the coastal route near Shanhaikwan, the gateway from north China to Manchuria.

Observers here said it is almost certain the Reds eventually will seek to demolish large sections of that route and of all southern Manchurian lines, completing a division of Manchuria into three isolated sectors.

eral record of the station in obedience to broadcast regulations.

The committee does not recommend, but suggests that the subject be looked into of raising the annual fee for radio station licenses. It is pointed out that the total fees for all station licenses last year aggregated only $40,000 while nine big stations alone showed total surplus earnings of more than $890,000. The committee apparently feels that radio station licenses should to some degree reflect the earning power of the stations.

THE COMMITTEE recommends that all stations should endeavor to employ more "live" local talent in preference to, so many records and transcriptions. This seems to be in line with the arguments advanced by Walter Murdock, Canadian chief executive officer of the American Federation of Musicians.

There is a general tone running all through the committee report of requirement for more monitoring and supervision of broadcasting by all Canadian radio stations.

service for 10 years or more.

The recommendations were received by Mr. Gerhart yesterday and copies have been mailed to the city of Calgary and to the federation. "We hope for a general acceptance of terms," stated Mr. Gerhart.

Briefs from 10 unions in the federation, besides a general brief from the federation of employes, were heard by the arbitration board between June 13 and July 5.

The board consisted of George B. Henwood, of Edmonton, chairman, who was appointed by the minister of trade and industry when the city of Calgary and the workers could not come to agreement in choosing an independent chairman; C. H. Minchin, representing the Calgary civic employes, and Reg. Smith, former alderman representing the city of Calgary.

Mr. Henwood stated today, "Relations between the members of the board were cordial, and we received the greatest assistance from those appearing before the board."

German Generals Placed On Trial

NUERNBERG, July 8—(Reuters)—The trial of 11 former Nazi generals, accused of war crimes against humanity, began today. All defendants pleaded not guilty and court adjourned till July 15. The defendants included Field Marshal Sigmund Wilhelm List, former inspector general of reserves in the German Army; Field Marshal Freiherr Maximilian von Weichs, former commander-in-chief, Balkan forces; and Col.-General Lothar Rendulic, former commander-in-chief, Norway forces.

Halifax Campaign Enters Last Week

HALIFAX, July 8—(CP)—The Halifax by-election campaign gathered speed last night as the deadline for nominations passed and officials of the three parties prepared for the last week of electioneering before next Monday's test at the polls.

Parker T. Hickey, returning officer, announced after the 4 p.m. deadline that John Dickey, Liberal, A. A. Macdonald, Progressive Conservative, and H. L. MacIntosh, CCF, had filed papers.

Mr. Dickey is a member of the law firm of the late W. C. MacDonald whose death last November left one of the two Halifax House of Commons seats vacant.

Like the Liberal candidate, Mr. MacDonald, a retired contractor, and Mr. MacIntosh, a carpenter, are making their first entry in politics.

Flying Discs

1839 and in Norway, Nov. 3, 1886.

IT SEEMS TO ME the three most likely explanations—and at this point only guesses—are:

1. The army and navy are experimenting with a new weapon. Although they have denied it, there is much in favor of this explanation.

2. The discs actually are from Mars or somewhere outside the earth. The fact that similar objects were seen before the invention of aircraft strengthens this explanation. There has been increasing evidence of life on some other planets. If they are Martians, I would like to meet one.

3. They are things out of other dimensions of time and space. Certain thinkers in abstract science long have held that some other dimensional being conceivably could enter our world.

ALTHOUGH MANY reports of the saucers are undoubtedly untrue or distorted, there is plenty of evidence that something very queer is going on.

This is not the first time strange things have occurred. But the previous ones have been "forgotten." Many weird things have crossed the skies of this earth.

UN Crisis Looms

tion to a July 12 conference on the Marshall aid-to-Europe proposal. The ministry said thus far there had been no refusals.

Indications mounted that at least some of the nations in the Soviet orbit would attend the conference, and one dispatch from Prague speculated that Russia herself might try to back into the talks she already has rejected.

POLISH, ROMANIAN and Finnish diplomats denied reports — one of them from the Soviet news agency Tass—that their countries had rejected the invitation. Yugoslav, Albanian, Bulgarian and Hungarian spokesmen could not be reached, but reports from all four nations indicated the invitation still was being studied.

A Sofia dispatch quoted an authoritative source as saying "probably Bulgaria will participate." The Bulgarian council of ministers was meeting to reach a decision in the matter.

Finland has indicated that "geographical and political reasons may keep her away from Paris, but Finnish politicians felt that cabinet discussions now under way in Helsinki might result in sending an observer to the talks.

NORWAY, DENMARK and Sweden will confer tomorrow in Copenhagen to determine their joint attitude toward the proposal advanced by State Secretary Marshall in a June 5 speech at Harvard University. The three Scandinavian powers will join in the Paris talks, their London diplomatic representatives said, if convinced the program would not lead to a division of Europe.

Switzerland's federal council today accepted the invitation in principle and Austria announced plans to participate.

At 4,712 feet, Imperial's Leduc No. 6 well was next in greatest depth, while the remainder of the projects were grinding downward.

Production on Leduc 1, 2, 3, 4 wells: 171, 245, 17, 132 barrels respectively. The low figure on No. 3 was due to closing off for a bottom-hole test. These are conducted from time to time on all wells.

Calgary office of McColl-Frontenac Tuesday said their Bigstone Creek well was now at 5,000 feet and coring; East Wetaskiwin No. 1 is at 4,832 and core testing. The Wizard Lake well at 5,020 feet had a forced suspension of drilling when a bit broke.

In a late Tuesday announcement the Imperial Oil Company set a price of $2.67½ per barrel for Leduc crude at well head.

Report on independents showed Globe-Leduc West No. 2 is now coring at 4,142 feet; their No. 1 well is at 405 feet.

Camp headquarters will be the Edmonton YMCA and most programs will be centred there. All hikes and trips will begin there.

Nfld. Union Talks Making Headway

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)— Representatives of Canada and Newfoundland decided yesterday that their discussions on the possibility of union have reached a stage where sub-committees could be established to make a detailed study of some of the questions involved.

Resuming joint meetings adjourned since last Wednesday, the representatives decided that sub-committees on finance, fisheries and transportation should be set-up to examine in detail how Newfoundland would be affected in these fields if she entered Canada as a 10th province.

John Baldwin, member of the Privy Council office and liaison officer between the two delegations, told newspaper men that the decision to form sub-committees came after Canadian officials had answered most of the 35 questions put by the visiting delegates last Wednesday.

Through the questions the delegates sought clarification on the workings of a federal government as outlined in documents given to the Newfoundlanders earlier.

Completes 1,200 Of 2,000-Mile Trip

S. J. Bailey, Yukon director for Dominion family allowances, who is conducting a business tour by canoe up the MacKenzie river, has completed 1,200 miles of his estimated 2,000-mile journey, it was learned today from northern radio reports of the army corps of signals.

Said Mr. Bailey, "Very satisfactory trip from Fort Simpson. Visiting families along 1,200 miles of MacKenzie river . . . Only one family in Norman Wells eligible for allowance, so am taking a bit of holiday."

The Mackenzie River is high and fast, and "very rough," added the family allowance director. For that reason, he announced that he expects to travel to Fort Good Hope by the river boat Distributor.

Visiting with Imperial Oil, RCMP, and army signal corps officials, Mr. Bailey intends to leave Norman Wells Wednesday night.

His destination is the Mackenzie river mouth island and Aklavik.

Attack Made in Commons

Charges Gen. Odlum "Made Lot of Misery"

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP) — Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum, former commander of the Canadian 2nd Division overseas, was described last night in the Commons by Col. Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East) as an army commander who "produced a great deal of misery" for the troops who had the "misfortune" to serve under him.

COL. HARKNESS, who served under Gen. Odlum in the Second Division, made the charge in taking objection to government legislation to provision for pensions for senior diplomatic appointees who serve outside of Canada. Gen. Odlum, a former Canadian Ambassador to China, would receive superannuation benefits under the legislation.

His remarks drew from Veterans Minister Mackenzie the hot retort that they were "unworthy, mean and dirty" and that he resented Col. Harkness having the "supreme effrontery to attack a bigger and greater man."

Col. Harkness touched off the scene when he said the legislation would not be well received by the thousands of soldiers who had the "misfortune" to serve under Gen. Odlum's command.

"THAT'S A NASTY remark," snapped Col. David Croll (L-Toronto-Spadina), who also served under Gen. Odlum. "I also served under him. What a shameful thing to say!"

Col. Harkness continued:

"I know that most of the men who served in the 2nd Division and received anything but good treatment will look upon this (the legislation) as something amiss if he (Gen. Odlum) receives $3,000 a year."

Mr. Mackenzie said he had known Gen. Odlum, now in Vancouver awaiting a new diplomatic appointment, for 30 years and that he was "one of the most Christian gentleman that ever lived." The general was a "great" soldier and a "true Canadian through and through."

COL. HARKNESS retorted: "The minister is entitled to his own opinion and so am I. I know something of the effect he (Gen Odlum) produced on the unfortunate soldiers in the 2nd Division."

He said he knew nothing about Gen. Odlum's previous service but as far as the Second World War was concerned the general "certainly produced a great deal of misery for a large number of people, of whom I was one."

MAJ.-GEN. VIC OR W. ODLUM

VANCOUVER, July 8—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. Victor Odlum was puzzled last night by attacks made on him in the House of Commons at Ottawa by Col. Douglas Harkness (PC-Calgary East). Col. Harkness charged that Gen. Odlum "produced a great deal of misery" for the troops who had the "misfortune" to serve under him. Referring to the colonel, Gen. Odlum said: "I don't remember him at all. I haven't the slightest idea of what is in his mind." He declined to comment further.

Speedy Gallop Crime in East

MONTREAL, July 8—(CP)—In this age of speed, seven Montrealers were surprised to find during the week-end that even a horse can go too fast for the law. They were arrested in Mount Royal park for "riding at a speed over eight miles an hour and endangering human life."

Reject CCF Move Kill Big Pensions

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—By a vote of 70 to 63, the Commons last night defeated a CCF motion which would have killed a government bill to provide pensions for senior diplomats who have served outside Canada.

Moved by Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East), the motion would have given the legislation, up for third and final reading, a "six months hoist," meaning that it could not be approved until six months hence.

Opposition speakers objected to paying large pensions to diplomats who, they said, already received a substantial income.

The bill later was given third and final reading "on division," indicating protest without a formal vote.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said the bill would apply only to 12 men, six of whom would not otherwise receive any retirement benefits.

Plan Move Nazis To Berlin Prison

BERLIN, July 8—(AP)—Brig.-Gen. Cornelius Ryan, assistant deputy American military governor, said yesterday preparations have been completed for the transfer of Rudolf Hess and six other convicted Nazi war criminals from Nuernberg to the Spandau prison in Berlin.

"For security and safety reasons," Ryan told a press conference, "there will be no advance publicity when they come in. We particularly don't want any demonstrations by the Germans."

The sprawling, red brick Spandau prison in the British sector of Berlin has been ready since mid-December to receive Hess, Walther Funk and Erich Raeder, sentenced to life terms; Baldur von Schirach and Albert Speer, sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment; Constantin von Neurath, sentenced to 15 years, and Karl Doenitz, sentenced to 10 years.

Approve Plans Alter Alta. National Parks

By George Kitchen

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—The Commons Monday approved the principle of a government bill to change the boundaries of certain of Canada's national parks, overriding the objection of a half-dozen opposition members to plans to reduce the boundaries of Saskatchewan's Prince Albert national park.

THOSE WERE virtually the only objections to the bill as it was given second reading and approved in committee stage. Final reading was deferred until a later sitting.

The bill makes additions to Fort Beausejour Historic Park in New Brunswick, Riding Mountain Park in Manitoba and Elk Island Park in Alberta. Withdrawals also are made of certain tracts in Riding Mountain Park, Waterton Lakes Parks in Alberta and abolishes the small Nemiskam Park and Buffalo Park in Alberta.

John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport) led the opposition, contending that the removal of a 373-square mile area from the park would have a serious effect on western water resources because the land would be turned to farming and denuded of the forest cover which provided a watershed for the Churchill river.

RECONSTRUCTION Minister Howe, piloting the legislation, said the land was not suitable for upkeep and would be turned into a fur conservation area under an agreement negotiated between the Dominion and the government of Saskatchewan, which has agreed to the return of the area to its jurisdiction.

Later, the Chamber gave final reading to a bill amending the Civil Service Superanuation Act to lower retirement ages, increase mobility of personnel and extend the benefits enjoyed by veterans.

Canadian Aquired Valuable Painting

LONDON, July 8—(CP)—The News Chronicle reported today on its front page the story of "Slim" Dexter, 28-year-old Canadian "soldier of fortune" said to have stumbled across a valuable painting belonging to the Rothschild family while "fighting a one-man war against the Germans."

Under a picture of Dexter in a London flat holding a 17th century Van Der Velde painting, the Chronicle quoted him as saying that he took it from a wounded German soldier in the Hertogen forest during the war.

"I had no idea the painting was of any special value," Dexter was quoted as saying, "but I kept it with other things I had picked up."

The Chronicle said the painting, valued by art dealers at between £6,000 and £10,000 ($24,000 to $40,000), today would be handed back to an art dealer acting on the behalf of James S. Rothschild.

In an interview, Dexter stated he went to the battle zones and "attached myself to various units of the American and Canadian forces" after being discharged from two Canadian regiments as "unlikely to become an efficient soldier."

Petrillo Plans Ban on Records

WASHINGTON, July 8—(AP)—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, said yesterday his union plans to call a halt to members making phonograph records and broadcasting over radio networks.

Petrillo, called on the Congressional carpet for past actions, explained that his plans are grounded on the belief that musicians don't get their fair share of entertainment money.

"As of now," he told a House of Representatives labor sub-committee, he plans to end members making records Dec. 31. The ban on network broadcasting, if it stands, would take effect Feb. 1.

And if it's legally possible, Petrillo said, the union itself may make and market musical recordings.

Fatal Inconsistency

A total of 638 persons were accidentally killed in the Fourth of July week-end throughout the United States. Between Thursday evening and Monday morning, 275 people were killed in holiday traffic accidents, seven were killed by fireworks, 187 were drowned and 169 found death through miscellaneous mishaps incidental to the celebration.

There are two strange features about this death toll and their peculiarity applies with equal force to similar ocasions in Canada or any other country.

The first is that this list of extraordinary fatalities was anticipated. Before the holiday occurred, experts were able to foretell with uncanny exactitude the number of persons who would unnecessarily meet death during the celebration. Indeed, the National Safety Council guessed the traffic deaths exactly.

Yet, knowing all this in advance, celebrants still took chances.

The second odd feature about this tragic set of circumstances is that those whose carlessness was responsible for many deaths were or are probably passionate exponents of safety in their home and industrial life. Among them were doubtless many trade unionists, for instance, and other kinds of employes who have thrown all the weight of Labor behind demands for safe working conditions.

And yet, most inconsistently, they went tearing over the highways at excessive speed and taking other wild chances just because it happened to be a holiday period.

There seems to be a text here which the Edmonton Safety Council could elaborate with great profit.

Fear of Competition

A special committee of the Manitoba legislature has reported that Manitoba needs 130 more general practice doctors and another 75 specialists for practice outside Greater Winnipeg before the medical services of that province will be up to standard.

It is all the more difficult to understand, then, why there is quite obvious tendency on the part of various professions to bring pressure upon the provincial universities to limit the number of newcomers in their differing fields.

Druggists fear there may be too many druggists, physicians fear there may be too many physicians, and this anxiety to limit competition is present in varying degrees among dentists, lawyers, engineers and technicians of all kinds.

The result of this fear is that the universities are induced to apply a severe weeding process to all students in courses leading towards these professions.

Now it is quite reasonable that students who plainly have no aptitude for any profession should be discouraged from entering it. It is unfair to the student and it is unfair to the public to let a young man or woman go through a scholastic course to fit himself or herself for work for which he or she is obviously unfitted.

But when this weeding out process is carried to the point where it becomes an agency of protection from competition for established members of a profession, that process becomes iniquitous and even sinister.

We recently concluded a victorious war against a system of life which included a closed corporation in politics. In no way is a closed corporation in politics any more objectionable than a closed corporation in the professions.

One of the limitations on personal liberty exercised by the Soviet system is the assumption by the state of the power to choose a man's vocation for him. In no way is the exercise of this power by the state any more abhorrent than the exercise of this power by a professional society

Any tendency, therefore, on the part of the professions to squeeze out newcomers to those professions lest they sharpen competition partakes of the nature of both Fascism and Communism.

It is a most undemocratic and unsafe proclivity.

Film Censorship

The new Alberta regulations providing for compulsory censorship of all 16 millimetre films designed for public showing will go into effect July 15th, it is announced. This is the deadline now set for such registration.

It is to be hoped that everyone concerned will co-operate with the enforcement of the new measure, particularly since the volume of protest uttered when it was first announced indicated considerable opposition to it.

It is now law. And all law should and must be respected.

Moreover, it is difficult to see why the regulation should inflict undue hardship on anyone. If the principle of film censorship is sound, and it seems to be endorsed fully in every Canadian province, it is just as sound in respect to 16 millimetre films for public showing as it is in respect to films showing in movie theatres.

Indeed, it may be more essential in the former case since these films are more likely to be vehicles for attempted propaganda than the larger ones employed for entertainment only.

Naturally, censorship can become an abuse. It can stifle freedom. But the difference between bureaucratic institutions in democratic countries and bureaucratic institutions in purely bureaucratic countries is that so long as governments are elective and must take the responsibility for their institutions, an irritated public can always find a remedy in nothing more violent than the ballot box. The vote is thoroughly effective in remedying any such abuse.

What Chance Rain?

Believe it or not, it is less likely to rain during July in Edmonton and the prairie provinces than in any other part of Canada east of the Rocky Mountains. The insurance companies are willing to bet on that basis, and they of course take statistics for their guide.

To insure against one-tenth of an inch of rain falling in any given three-hour period, here are the rates charged, according to the Financial Post, for each $100 they undertake to pay if they lose. In the prairie provinces $6.90, in Ontario $7.80, in Prince Edward Island $8.40, in New Brunswick, $9.00, in Quebec and Nova Scotia $9.90. British Columbians apparently do not bother to insure against rain this month, since no figures are quoted for that province.

July picnickers, it seems, have a better chance to get by without a wetting if they live on the prairies than if they live anywhere farther east. A less happy thought is that this is the part of Canada where July rain is most needed to bring along the crops. That points to the importance of putting as much prairie land under irrigation as is practicable.

LIFE'S DARKEST MOMENTS -:- -:- by Webster

Domestic Foreign Policy

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

America's role in the world is tied up with internal affairs. A bipartisan foreign policy can only be effective as part of a general policy. The fact that two contending parties agree on a foreign policy, but are proceeding in diametrically opposite directions on domestic affairs eventually will lead to breakdown of the policy. This is particularly true in the present constellation.

THOMPSON

Secretary Marshall is attempting to secure the reconstruction of Europe as an economic entity politically free from interference by either the United States or the Soviet Union. This is high statesmanship and its success is a matter of life or death to our civilization and possibly the Soviets, too. If it fails and Europe descends into chaos — civil strife, and possible civil war, with the political adventurism produced by chaos — there will be economic collapse here and probably another international war.

This is not hysteria. The Marshall policy is a response to a challenge that cannot be exaggerated. It has a chance to succeed with the collaboration of the Soviets and even without or against them, and without war. But it has no chance if the U.S. goes to pieces internally. For it demands uninterrupted production, dependent on harmonious industrial relations.

THE SITUATION created by the president's veto of the labor bill and congressional overriding of it is, therefore, profoundly disturbing. The eyes of the world are on the U.S., and the actions of all states are being based on calculations of the American domestic situation.

There has been little statesmanship in the White House on this issue. This column also does not like the labor bill—which seems framed rather for lawyers than for industry or labor, which has clauses bound to exaggerate, not alleviate, relations, and which is sadly lacking in precision of definition.

But retrospect does not confirm that it violates President Truman's own past attitudes. This column, for instance, did not think the President's handling of the last coal strike was "masterly" or "triumphant."

Neither do we find praise for Labor's leaders who fail to recognize the fact of public reaction against many of their practices. Their reform was a democratic demand they failed to heed.

BUT MEANWHILE THE President, being fully cognizant of the main provision of the bill while it was still under consideration, not only vetoed it without previous warning but attacked each and every measure in it. Though prefacing his message by admission of Labor abuses, he left the impression that there are none. Certainly no one reading his message could imagine a bill he would accept. Moreover, he gave the green light to a Labor revolt by putting the worst and most exaggerated interpretation upon the bill, with a lack or responsibility comparable to the grin with which he received the news of the dropping of the first atomic bomb.

We understand the dilemma occasioned by Mr. Wallace's Communist-inspired threat to split the Democratic party. But that move didn't start last week either, and foresight supposedly is a quality of statesmanship.

What is now needed is the greatest possible reconciliation all around. For if we are all out to defeat each other we shall certainly be defeated as a people. If we are, there is not one American—of whatever color, race, creed, or social station—who will not suffer as he never dreamed he could.

House Rule Proposals

BY CHESTER BLOOM

OTTAWA: Every year some hopeful member of parliament brings up the subject of improving and speeding up the business machinery of the house; and every year, little or nothing is done about it. Perhaps the truth is that most of the members of all parties are not so enthusiastic about changing the rules to keep their noses to the grind stone as their words would indicate.

The latest proposals came from genial Gordon Graydon, the Progressive-Conservative member from Peel. With friends on all sides, Mr. Graydon put in a long list of proposals for betterment of house business some of which Hon. Ian Mackenzie, minister of Veterans Affairs, the government house leader, termed "fantastic". However, he said, the government would take them "under consideration", the usual polite way of saying, nothing doing.

One proposal of Mr. Graydon's which would be welcomed by the press is to have the house sit from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. instead of from 3 to 6 p.m. and from 8 to 11 p.m. That would still give the ministers time for their morning cabinet meetings and conferences. It would give a fair break to both morning and afternoon newspapers and permit better all around handling of reports.

OTHER IMPORTANT changes asked by Mr. Graydon included:

Adopt the British system of devoting an hour between 1 and 2 p.m. each day to questions put to the government. Private members to have one day a week to discuss their resolutions subject to curtailed time of speaking. A supply motion at the beginning of one sitting a week on which miscellaneous grievences could be aired.

A short general discussion on each departmental item in the estimates and then reference of the main estimates to a standing or special committee for detailed examination.

Any member of the house to have the right to appear and take part in a committee is if he were a member of it when the committee is dealing with departmental estimates. At present, only members of the committee can participate. Proceedings of committee discussions on the estimates to be printed and distributed just the same as official reports of house debates.

Committees to sit in the morning or while the house sits or in urgent cases in the evenings. The time of speakers in committee of the whole to be cut in half from the present forty minutes.

PRIVATE MEMBERS TO have the right to speak from another member's place in which event the speaker to announce the fact for identification. The rule to be enforced that no member can read his speach, "as I am now doing" remarked Mr. Graydon, except by special permission of the speaker and the fact should be noted in hansard.

Changes in hansard made only a question of privilege in the house; never by a member privately.

No private conversation between members allowed in the house.

Research men allotted to opposition members to match that of departmental aides to ministers.

Ministers to give notice to house leaders of all statements they propose to make motions or orders of the day. The right of private members to put a reasonable number of question about them.

A larger amount of legislation to be initiated in the Senate.

Rationing of debating time with a fair share for new members and back benchers of all parties.

Broadcast of special debates such as the leaders' speeches on the address and the budget speech and leading critics thereof.

Government's full program to be laid before all members of the house at the beginning of the session at an informal multi-party caucus. Time to be budgeted there and target set for prorogation.

PERHAPS WHAT STRUCK Hon. Mr. Mackenzie as "fantastic" was Mr. Graydon's proposal to rearrange the seating, the speaker in the centre at the side of the house chamber with circular seating around him and the press gallery behind the speaker, as usual.

Among other changes Mr. Graydon suggested were daylight instead of artificial lighting for the chamber, improvement of acoustics, and installation of teletypes so that the proceedings in the chambe would be available for all to see throughout the building. Finally, he would have a box where visitors could drop suggestions for further improvements.

Smiles

A doctor's telephone rang one night awakening him from fitful slumber. It was one of his regular patients, a man in a wild state of alarm.

"My wife, doctor," he shouted. "It's her appendix. You'd better come around and see her at once."

The doctor sighed and told the man to go back to bed.

"Give her some bicarbonate and ginger ale, and I'll look in tomorrow," he said. "She hasn't got appendicitis."

The husband became even wilder, insisting that she did have appendicitis."

"Well, she can't have!" the doctor shouted. "I took her appendix out three years ago, and I never heard of any one having two appendixes."

"Ever heard of anybody having two wives?" the man asked, bitterly.

Blushing, she hid her face on her father's shoulder.

"He loves me," she said.

"Then I suppose he wants to marry you?"

"Yes, dad."

"What's his income?"

She started.

"I don't know," she murmured, "but the coincidence is very strange."

"What coincidence?"

"Sebastien," she answered, "asked the very same question about your income."

---

Small Girl (to seven-year-old friend): "Oh, I think you're lots better looking than your daddy."

Boy (true child of the motor era): "Well, I ought to be—I'm a later model."

---

"Waiter, this is a miserably small steak."

"Yes, sir, but you'll find it will take you a long time to eat it."

---

The office boy was asked to ring up a number and got the wrong one.

"Mr. Woolf here," came the reply.

"Who?" replied the boy.

"Woolf," replied the wrong number.

"Well, who's afraid of you?" asked the boy.

---

"You want your hair parted exactly in the middle, sir?" asked the barber.

"That's what I said, didn't I?"

"Then I'll have to remove one, sir. There are only five. I'll pull the middle one out."

---

"I don't mind you naming me Alasper Smith, mother, but why Alasper Y. Smith?"

"Why, after Shakespeare's hero, of course! Surely you know of Alasper Yorick."

---

Jones: "I reckon the boss is beginning to take an interest in me."

Smith: "Oh, yes?"

Jones: "Yes. He asked me if I worked here."

---

Polite Borrower: "Thanks so much for the use of your hot-water bag. It leaks just a little, but my husband popped on a mackintosh over his pyjamas."

An old gentleman who was searching for his hat the other day was profuse in his thanks to the man who pointed out that it was on his head.

"But for you sir," he said, "I would have had to go without it."

Canada's Status

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

The British government has just passed a new order re-naming the Dominions Office the Office for Commonwealth Affairs. Once again we are told that Canada has somehow or other achieved new "status."

The best comment is "skip it."

Canada's relationship with Britain has gradually changed over the years. We have achieved as much independence of action as we ever could in the world set-up of times. But we are not an independent, fully self-governing nation.

PHILPOTT

We get our Governor - General from England.

We have no flag.

Our basic constitution is the British North America Act of 1867—an act passed by the parliament at London and not subject to alteration by the Parliament at Ottawa.

The best proof that Canada is not a fully self-governing nation is the fact that the proposed new Bill of Rights could only become effective if and when passed by British MP's as an amendment to the British North America Act.

When nations become fully self-governing—and equal with their former overlords—they do not "ask" some other nation's parliament to pass a resolution permitting their new status. They themselves proclaim it. They "tell the world"—they do not ask mama for another pretty piece of paper.

I HASTEN TO ADD that the reason Canada is not a fully self-governing nation is our own fault—not Great Britain's.

The other dominions long since chose their own flags. Eire and Australia have insisted on native governors-general named from their own countries. We haven't had the gumption to do that yet.

The reason we still have to run home to mama to amend our constitution for us is because Canadians themselves are too adolescent to disolve the ancient deadlock between the French-speaking Catholic and English-speaking protestant communities.

The French Canadians show no enthusiasm for a flag which keeps the Union Jack in the upper corner. They want no "British connection" on the flag. But French Canada has so far blocked any move to transfer to Ottawa the power to alter our constitution. They fear being forced to become "English" by their fellow Canadians.

If Canada really were a fully independent nation, within the British association—she would write her own constitution.

Our present Prime Minister—Mr. Mackenzie King—would be admirably fitted to become the first Canadian-born Governor-General.

MR. KING HAS stayed in power longer than any other living democratic leader. On paper, his great feat has been winning "equal status" with Britain. It was a cause worth winning. But the new facts of life have made it a hollow "victory."

A wit might be forgiven for saying that when Mr. King came in we were undoubtedly a "colony" run from England. Now—near the end of his career—we are like a steer with different legs securely roped by different outside cowboys.

We are still roped to London—and we are roped to Washington and Rome.

Whatever the facts are on paper, Canada is far more of a "colony" of the United States today than she ever was of any power in this century.

CANADIANS DO not get much worked up about these questions. More and more Canadians are aware that the world has far too much nationalism already.

Kipling said "patriotism is the last refuge of a rogue." Edith Cavell said "patriotism is not enough."

One thing humanity does not need is more nationalism. What we do need in this stage of history is more world law—world peace enforced under law made above the level of the nations.

There is not now and never can be "equality of nations."

Nations are not equal—and have no right to be.

It is the human being—the person of every race, color, language and sex who should be given those human rights listed in the Declaration of Independence.

The kind of "status" that should interest Canadians is that to give them the right to live and work in peace—not die in more wars caused by nationalism.

Bulletin Readers Say:

Letters to the editor should be brief and discuss no more than one subject at a time. The name and address of the writer must be included, but not necessarily for publication if the correspondent so requests. Letters thus received become the property of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN whose editors, for obvious reasons, cannot undertake to enter into correspondence about them and reserve the right to delete extraneous or unduly controversial matter.

EXAMPLE COUNTS

Editor, Bulletin—We still refer to the present period as being "post-war," and one stark reason may be because every country in the world is still in undoubted trouble. Difficulties vary slightly, from nation to nation. War-born causes have left one principality after another in economic dormancy.

Good crops, augmented transportation and re-engaged industry may ease the hunger of millions. It cannot be too soon for those who were hardest hit. Over and above this widespread economic problem is the international conflict of ideologies. To many, this seems akin to a competition among sieve-salesmen for the adoption of their wares by water-carriers. Many schools of thought are campaigning for widespread expansion.

Without mention of aught, either for or against any of the others, it can do no harm to remind Christians that Christianity need not fear the ridicule of those who view it askance. In this connection, it cannot fail to be true, that "deed"-Christianity will surpass the nominal variety in world-healing scope.

FILMS OVERSEAS LINK

Editor, Bulletin—The motion picture screen is maintained by the people but has not yet been fully employed in their service. For example: There are hundreds—yes, thousands—of common people here in the Edmonton district of British birth who have not been able to revisit their old home districts in many years, although many of them would like to do that. Why could they not greet their British friends from the screen of the local movie house? I suggest a series of weekly shorts under such a title as "Overseas Greetings."

Editor, Bulletin—Through your letter column the committee of the Goodwill Depot, wishes to thank The Edmonton Bulletin for the co-operation it has received during the past year.

The committee would also, very much like to thank all those who have contributed to the success of the venture. A special word of thanks and appreciation goes to Mr. P. H. Ashby MP. for East Edmonton for the fine donations of diapers.

The depot will be closed for the months of July and August.

COMICS FOR CHILDREN

Editor, Bulletin—Supervision of children's reading has long been a concern of educationists but it seems they are really at a loss to know what to do about the "comics." It certainly has no comical aspects.

Parents deplore, teachers view with alarm, and so on. Stories told in pictures are ever alluring to children but if their minds are to be trained to hate—or if they are unduly alarmed by ghastly pictures then a search light should be turned on the source and this kind most certainly should be taken out of circulation.

CANADA'S STATUS

Editor, Bulletin—I would like to comment on Canada and "Dominion Day." Dominion comes from the Latin word dominus which means master, owner or lord. The word dominus in turn is derived from the Latin infinitive domare which means to subdue or to vanquish. Therefore to refer to Canada as a British dominion is to infer that Canada is a country under subjection to Britain. This is very misleading.

The title, "Dominion" should never have been applied to Canada. However, it was applied and Canada should have shed itself of this prefix on "Westminster Day," Dec. 11, 1931, when Canada was given equal status with Britain as a nation or at that time Britain should have assumed the name Dominion of Britain.

This was not done. Then how can it be explained that two nations of equal status in fact cannot be called equal by name. There is much in a name.

OPPOSES SUNDAY SPORT

Editor, Bulletin—I noted a letter of recent date re Sunday observance. What the writer tries to convey I do not understand,—unless it is to make odious comparisons. I, too, have lived in rural and urban Quebec—and certainly cannot subscribe to his findings. The fact that he admits that sports are allowed on Sunday afternoons and cinemas are allowed to be opened cannot be denied. Nevertheless it is a contravention of the law of God. Furthermore, it is not the prerogative of any church—called by any name—to condone violation of His day—What He has commanded to be kept holy. Your correspondent states that he could give the reason why the principal church in that province has no difficulty in filling the churches on Sunday morning. He is not the only one who could.

In these days when sport is contaminated by so many evils and especially when the Lord's Day is so lightly esteemed, it is refreshing to recall the achievements of the late Eric H. Liddell of Edinburgh, who covered himself with glory at the Olympic games in Paris twenty years ago. His crowning achievement in Paris was his refusal to take part in any contest which was decided on the Lord's Day. To Eric Liddell the prize was a corruptible crown. He was a Christian youth who died at an early age in China as an aggressive Christian missionary.

Surgeon Holds Severed Artery For Half Hour

PETERSON, N. J., July 8—(CP)—When a power failure plunged the operating room of St. Joseph's Hospital into darkness Sunday, a surgeon held a patient's severed abdominal artery for 30 minutes until the emergency lighting system was put into operation.

Dr. V. W. Guidice, performing an appendectomy, had made the incision in the patient's abdomen. Just as the operating room went dark, Dr. Giudice noticed that blood was spurting. He located the artery in the darkness, holding it while nurses brought flashlights and candles.

The light was still too dim to proceed, so, working carefully not to halt the flow of blood in the patients body, the surgeon clasped the artery to prevent further loss of blood.

Juniors Stage Varied Display

Leafs and South Side Battle to 9-9 Draw

They staged a junior baseball "circus" at Clarke Stadium last night and everybody liked it. By the time Maple Leafs and South Side had scuffed through two hours and forty minutes, only to finish all even at 9-9, Umpire John Lupul figured the gathering shadows warranted calling the game without playing extra innings.

It was just as well. To have had one team lose after such a comic, yet tense horsehide display would have been just a little bitter. As it was, everyone was satisfied.

The game had everything—six chuckers, lots of hitting, a sackful of stolen bases, brilliant fielding (and some not so brilliant), umpire baiting, flashing spikes, clever clutch pitching, and a near donnybrook to wind up the show.

BARNUM AND Bailey couldn't have colored it better—that is, if such things as guys batting out of turn and catchers heaving the pellet into centrefield while trying to nab a runner pilfering second base can be described as colorful.

And a flow of high-powered tension seeped through the whole mollycoddle. When Kelly Callahan on the South Side slab struck out five men in the last two innings with the winning runs perched on the base lines there was a drama riding on every pitch, and when Jerry Griffin spilled a two-run homer to the scoreboard to shoot Leafs ahead in the seventh the fans went wild.

THE FRAY started casually enough, with "Dazzler" St. Louis serving them up for South Side and lithe Stan Patterson pitching for the blueshirts. But by the time Maple Leafs had scored seven runs in the first three innings and South Side had counted six in the first four stanzas, the "Dazzler" shone less brightly in the showers and Patterson was riding the bench.

Don Crough replaced St. Louis and Dick Lowe carried out the Maple Leaf relief mission. Crough got as far as the seventh before making way for Callahan. On most nights young Lowe pours them down the funnel in great style, but he had a sore flipper last evening and it was necessary for Benny Grabow to grab the Leaf's hurling reins in the sixth.

IT WAS ALL even at 7-7 after six innings. Then Griffin shot Leafs ahead with his two-run boundary clout in the seventh. The score might have remained at 9-7 for Leafs had Dick Lowe handled Bill Kasting's long fly to right field in the South Side ninth. That three-base miscue allowed the Scona crew to score the tying runs.

Wynn and West with two for four led the South Side hitters, while Laubman, Kilburn, Griffin, and Tesky each slammed two safe blows for Walter Johnson's nine.

Score by innings:

| | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| South Side | 200 | 401 | 002—9 | 7 | 5 |
| Maple Leafs | 043 | 000 | 200—9 | 13 | 6 |

St. Louis, Crough (3), Callahan (7), and Coughlin; Patterson, Lowe (4), Grabow (7), and Laubman.

Fowler Girls Show Promise In Provincial

Junior golf talent is springing up all over the place in Edmonton these days.

Before the city's links fraternity got its second wind singing the praises of "blondie" Buddy Loftus for his outstanding feats the past two weeks, the fair sex blossomed forth with a couple of promising young stars.

They are the Fowler sisters, Loraine and Alice. Loraine first saw the light of day 18 years ago and Alice made her debut into the world three years later.

YESTERDAY these two dark-thatched youngsters stole the show in the qualifying round of the 13th annual Alberta Women's Golf Association tournament, which is being staged at the Municipal course.

Loraine walked away with the low net prize in the silver division with a 66 and tied Mrs. Tommy Vickers, a seasoned tournament campaigner, for low gross with an 81. Alice served up a neat 87 to take low gross in the bronze division and her net 68 was also tops.

THE FOWLER girls come by their golf-mindedness quite naturally, for their dad, Len Fowler, is superintendent of the groundsmen at the Mayfair, and Loraine forms part of his staff. Alice is still attending school.

The girls first showed promise as long as three years ago when a women's tourney was held at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club.

Both stood out like sore thumbs then and now the railbirds are picking them to at least reach the finals of their respective sections. They play their golf at the Municipal

DESPITE HER 83 yesterday, defending champion Paddy Arnold still rules favorite in the tourney. She ran into trouble on the greens, but the rest of her game was sound. Shortly before leaving Calgary Paddy fired a nifty 78 over the tough Calgary Golf and Country Club course.

Mrs. Wilder Ripley, who won the medal event last year in Calgary was the surprise packet of the opening day. She soared to 104 and wound up in the bronze division.

MRS. VICKERS toured the first nine in 40 and came home in 41. By the luck of the draw she is likely to meet Paddy Arnold in the eights. They are both in the bottom half.

The tournament, which conflicted with the Calgary Stampede, drew an entry of only 40, but the fine calibre of play yesterday more than made up for the lack of numbers.

MRS. A. RILEY carried off the long driving honors in the silver division with an average of 188 1-3 yards for three balls, while Alice Fowler took the bronze prize with a 175 1-3 average.

Following are the qualifying scores:

Loraine Fowler, Municipal, 40-41—81; Mrs. T. Vickers, Municipal, 40-41—81; Miss Paddy Arnold, Calgary, 42-41—83; Mrs. K. Saunders, Municipal, 41-46—87; Alice Fowler, Municipal, 43-44—87; Mrs. J. He Made a Big Hit in Calgary

BUDDY LOFTUS

Along the Fairways

with Bert Greer

Buddy Loftus is the toast of both Edmonton and Calgary golfers these days, and well he should be.

Not only did the congenial youngster win both the city and provincial junior championships, but he also reached the semi-finals of the amateur and provincial amateur tournaments.

Another feather in Buddy's cap is the fact that it took Dominion Champion Henry Martell to take him out of each event—and the newly-crowned provincial king will readily admit that it was no easy task either time.

Their first engagement went to the 18th green after Martell had staged a great comeback, and the second ended at the 16th hole. Few golfers have extended the smooth-swinging Martell to such an extent in the past decade.

There are few better sports in the Royal and Ancient game than Henry Martell. The fact that he has dominated the game in these parts for more than 10 years and still maintained his popularity, is mute evidence of this. But when he met Buddy down in Calgary last Saturday, he was definitely playing for keeps.

The 13th hole was ample proof. Henry was two up and he placed his second six feet from the cup on the long par-five hole. Buddy just missed his birdie and his ball lay only a few inches from the cup. Instead of going for an eagle, Henry merely eased the ball up close to the hole and made sure of his birdie.

When it was all over Henry was asked in the clubhouse why he didn't make an effort to score an eagle. "Why should I take a chance on stymieing myself when I was only two up at the time," was his reply. That's probably why Henry is a champion—he keeps his head down, and uses it too.

Bud has two great assets and if he should ever reach Martell's greatness, he will have each of them to thank for his success. They are a perfect temperament and a fine putting touch.

When he was three down and five to go against Martell, he was more concerned about a defect he had discovered in his new No. 3 iron than the fact that he was on the verge of elimination. He also has a great fighting spirit and never knows when he's licked.

Playing Vern Mohs, 1946 Edmonton amateur champion and runner up in the provincial amateur last year, Buddy was one up and one to go. After a good drive, Buddy shanked his iron and the ball went out of bounds. Unperturbed, he dropped another and smacked it three feet from the pin for a par four. In the meantime Mohs overshot the green with his second and needed three more to get down. Instead of the match going into overtime, Buddy won two up.

Bert Gee, Municipal professional who taught the youngster nearly all he knows about the game, remarked yesterday that he thought Buddy would soon be on top of the heap, but probably not for a couple of years. He said the lad has a few rough edges that must be ironed out and it may take that long to perfect the change in his swing.

The Alberta Golf Association is aiming high this year, and if present plans materialize, the boys will be gunning for $5,000 in the provincial open Labor Day week-end at the Edmonton Country Club. Ingy Cameron, the new president, has been given a free hand and hopes to have Bobby Locke, the noted South African, listed among the entries.

Ingy said Locke had made the statement that he would like to play the Jasper course this year. "We are going to try to persuade him to take in our tournament" he said. "If finances permit, we are also going to try to bring Kenny Black and Bud Ward here for the event," he stated. They would play with Henry Martell.

Martell and Bill Gostick automatically became Alberta representatives on the Willingdon Cup team when they reached the provincial final. The other two places will be decided by medal rounds in both Edmonton and Calgary on July 21.

Lacombe golf tournament, one of the most popular events in Alberta, will be held July 20 and 21. An attractive prize list is awaiting the winners. The course is in ideal condition and there will be consolation and flight prizes. Post entries will be accepted.

Survivor Ezzard Charles and Ray

Jacobs Beach Unveils New Victim for Louis

NEW YORK, July 8—(AP)—Jacobs Beach climbed off the merry-go-round long enough Monday to pass up both Olle Tandberg and Joe Baksi as challengers for Joe Louis, and to start working, instead, on a title bout between the Bomber and the winner of Ezzard Charles' coming clambake with Elmer (The Violent) Ray.

The complete switch in the heavyweight title production was outlined by Sol Strauss, acting director for the 20th Century Sporting Club, even while fight followers were still spinning from the victory the swatting Swede chalked up over Baksi Sunday in Stockholm, just when everyone thought Baksi would cake-walk in and then come home to tangle with Louis in September.

Most of the spinning was occasioned, not so much by the defeat, as by the fact that Baksi, with a payday of $50,000 to $100,000 waiting for a title shot, would take a chance, for comparitive small change, against any opponent who might make an accident happen. The fact that Tandberg, himself figured he earned no better than a draw, and that ringsiders generally were saying it was too bad the officials were suffering from poor vision, didn't change the opinion that Baksi wasn't exactly a genius in taking on this bout.

The rhubarb the surprise package created caused Strauss to pop up with the following shifts:

1. A return match between Olle and Pensylvania Joe on Aug 22 in Madison Square Garden.

2. A Sept. 19 Yankee Stadium title bout between Louis and the winner of the July 25 tussle here between long-armed Ezzard Charles, a light-heavy out of Cincinnati, and Elmer (The Violent) Ray, from Florida provided, Sol insisted, that the winner turns the trick decisively."

STOCKHOLM, July 8 —(AP)—London promoter Jack Solomons, said last night he wanted Olle Tandberg, upset winner over Pennsylvania Joe Baksi here Sunday, for a fight against the British heavyweight champion, Bruce Woodcock, in London.

The match would take place in October, Solomons said.

Olle, himself told a correspondent, after long pondering: "I think it wisest that I take on Woodcock first, before Louis."

Baksi knocked out Woodcock, the Doncaster, Yorkshire, slugger, in seven rounds last April.

Wally Kilrea Named Coach For Rockets

PHILADELPHIA, July 8—(AP)—Philadelphia Rockets Monday signed the veteran Ottawa-born Wally Kilrea as coach of their 1947-48 entry in the American Hockey League.

The 38-year-old Kilrea will take over the coaching duties from Phil Hergesheimer, who finished last season on a temporary basis as player-coach. Hergesheimer, the circuit's leading scorer although he played with a last place entry, thus will be free to spend full time defending his scoring title.

KILREA and his brother, Ken, a centre also from Ottawa, signed with the Rockets at the same time.

Wally coached the Fort Worth team in the United States League last year and Ken, 28, played in 33 games on his brother's squad before he went to Springfield.

The deal for the Kilreas was made with Eddie Shore, who owns a hockey system which includes teams in Springfield, Fort Worth and San Diego.

As a result of the transaction, the Rockets are sending forwards Billy Warwick of Regina and Eric Unger to the Shore system.

Pat Fletcher Wins Saskatchewan Open

SASKATOON, July, 8—(CP)—Pat Fletcher, former pro at Edmonton's Highlands club, yesterday won the Saskatchewan open golf championship, held since 1941 by Wilf Greenwood of Regina, when he put together a four-under-par 68 and a par 72 on his home course here.

Runner-up honors went to Regina's young Pat Fletcher with 72-73—145, while Greenwood wound up in third spot with 79-70—149.

Dr. Bob Reid of Prince Albert, defending amateur champion, won the amateur medal round with a 73, one stroke better than Cliff Sobert of Saskatoon. Gordon Beattie, Regina City champion, was next with 75.

The amateurs will start flight matches today while the pros will play 36 holes to settle the professional title.

Bay Capitalizes On Pool Errors

Taking advantage of a surplus of Dairy Pool errors, Hudson's Bay waltzed to a 12-7 win in a Ladies' Intermediate Fastball game at Diamond Park last night. The Pool out-hit the Bay 9-7, but the 11 errors paved the way to defeat.

Four Under Against Oliver

Locke 3 Strokes Up In O'Shanter Playoff

CHICAGO, July 8—(AP)—Bobby Locke, playing his shots like a machine, clicked a four-under-par 68 Monday to fashion a three-stroke lead over Ed (Porky) Oliver at the end of the first round of their 36-hole playoff for the Tam O'Shanter $7,000 professional title prize.

Locke, the South African seeking his fifth tournament triumph in 10 meets since landing in the United States fashioned five birdies, and went over par on only one hole in carving out a pair of 34s against par 36-36.

Only once did his tee shots drift into the rough, while Oliver, of Wilmington, Del., the country's sixth leading money winner with $8,490, caught the tall grass on at least five holes in posting 37-34—71.

In taking a three-stroke lead at the turn, the knickered Johannesburg visitor pulled one of the most amazing recovery shots of the entire tournament on the ninth. His third shot on the 520-yard hole was half buried in a deep sand trap by the green. He blasted out one inch from the cup to match Oliver with par 5.

Brooklyn Club to Hold Baseball School Here

Keeping stride with the baseball progress which has featured the great game of baseball in Edmonton during the past two years, John Ducey and John Beatty, Renfrew Park operators, announced Monday, that arrangements had been completed with the Brooklyn Dodgers, to hold a baseball school at Renfrew Park, July 15, 16 and 17, under the direction of the Brooklyn National Club.

This Major League presentation goes to Edmonton and marks the first occasion that a Major League ball club has come to Western Canada for the purpose of aiding baseball and to discover some future stars in the Canadian West.

THE THREE-DAY clinic is free to every ball player in Edmonton and throughout the province of Alberta. A special invitation is extended to players in all parts of the province to take advantage of this baseball opportunity.

Players supply their own spikes and shoes. The Brooklyn club furnishes competent, ex-major league instructors, balls and bats.

The school will be in charge of Howard Haak, chief Brooklyn scout for the Pacific and Northwest territory of United States and Canada.

ACTION WILL BEGIN Tuesday morning, July 15 at 10 a.m. and continue through July 17. At 10 a.m. Tuesday, all players will be registered and catalogued. Each will be graded at his ability to run, field, throw and hit and these records will be kept and at it's conclusion, each player will be rated by the four instructors.

The instructors will then be able to acquaint the player with his faults and he can concentrate on eliminating them. Pitchers will be judged on speed, control, change of pace and curve ball.

PLAYERS who show promise and are offered a contract and signed by the Brooklyn organization, will be reimbursed for whatever travel and living expenses are incurred in attending the school.

No player who is in high school is eligible for signing, but he may attend and receive this valuable baseball schooling.

COACHES, managers of ball clubs throughout Edmonton and Alberta are extended a special invitation to attend the lectures to be given each day by Howard Haak.

Baseball fans also are invited to attend the clinic, but are asked to remain in the stands during actual instruction, demonstrations and testing.

School will be conducted from 10 o'clock in the morning through 5 p.m. each day of the three day clinic.

After each player is tested, and graded, actual play will begin.

Working with head instructor Howard Haak, will be such qualified basball men as George Welchel of San Bernadino, Calif., Ken Johnson of Spokane, Washington and Nick Mariana of Great Falls, Montana.

Brooklyn baseball officials vision Alberta and Western Canada as a fertile field for diamond prospects. They are beginning their Western Canada invasion by presenting their baseball school in the diamond metropolis of the west.

Here is the opportunity young ball players have been waiting for in Alberta. Who knows, perhaps some day, youngsters from this province will be making baseball history in Brooklyn's much publicized Ebbets Field.

Eyes on $10,000 Bonanza

Open Will Attract Classy Golf Field

World-famous golfers from the United States, Australia, South Africa, Bermuda and Canada are heading toward Scarboro Golf Club, outside Toronto, with their eyes on a bonanza of $10,000, to say nothing of a couple of handsome trophies. The attraction is the Canadian open golf tournament which gets underway at Scarboro July 16.

The $10,000 in prize money is put up by the House of Seagram, with the Canadian champion getting $2,000 in first prize money as well as custody of the Seagram Gold Cup for one year and a replica of the Seagram trophy as a permanent possession. In addition, the leading Canadian pro golfer gets one year's possession of the Rivermead Trophy and the lion's share of special prize money distributed exclusively among Canadians.

WITH $2,000 going to the winner of the four-day, 72-hole competition, the runner-up receives $1,400 and the man who places third gets $1,000. Fourth prize is $800 and fifth is $550. From there on, prizes are graduated downward until the man in 20th spot gets $50.

In addition to these main prizes are the special awards to leading Canadians. The top Canadian pro gets $250 in addition to the Rivermead Trophy. Second prize is $200, third $125, fourth $100, fifth $75, and sixth $50.

IN SEARCH of these prizes, some of the best golfers of the continent and beyond play 18 holes on the 16th, 17th and 18th of July. For the final day's play, another 18 holes on the 19th, the field is reduced to the 75 players who have the best scores for the first three days. The lowest score of the four days takes top money and the Seagram Gold Cup.

Cloudbursts Ruin Sport

Fish More Obliging Following Rain Storm

By John Alden Knight

There is an odd bit of folk lore that dates back to the dim, dark ages which advises the angler to "fish in troubled waters." By and large, it's still pretty good advice. Any bait fisherman knows that he can usually do a land-office business when the streams are discolored by a hard rain. To be sure, that sort of fishing isn't very much fun, but it will bring home the bacon more often than not.

Spring and summer rains are the be-all and end-all to good fishing. And I mean rains—not storms or "cloudbursts." These are apt to bring on floods, and summer floods raise the very devil with things. As soon as high waters of early spring subside, there is a redistribution of aquatic life in our lakes and streams as the underwater population moves into summer quarters.

FLOODS PLAY havoc with this arrangement. Stream bottoms are scoured and countless millions of insects are ground to death by rolling rocks. Plant life is ripped up or silted under. Fish are moved from their chosen homes and, when the waters return to normal, must find new places to live. A severe flood is quite likely to ruin the fishing for the balance of the season—sometimes longer.

But spring and summer rains are something else again. They serve many purposes. They raise the water level and keep it where it should be. They bring a periodic supply of freshly aerated water to the fish. By discoloring the water slightly and raising its level, they provide protection against predators so that the larger fish are free to move about in search of food without danger of exposure. Last, and just as important, they wash in an additional supply of food.

Izaak Walton advised his pupil to seek the inlets after a copious downpour. In some ways father Izaak's technique could be improved upon, but he was right about rains. Inlets, after a shower, are quite likely to be concentration spots.

Most any country boy will tell you that the best time to fish is during a summer rain. That's the time when he digs a fresh can of worms, takes down his cane pole, and heads for his pet "fishin' hole." Let's look into this idea a little more closely and find out what happens.

When a summer rain approaches its advent is heralded by a falling barometer. A drop in the glass is nature's warning to the fish to take cover. They retire to the deeper waters in the bottoms of the larger pools and there await more favorable conditions.

When the rains come, with them comes steadying of the barometer. The glass levels off or, possibly, begins to rise. This is nature's "green light," telling the fish that danger is past and they are free once more to move into shadows.

Meanwhile, their enforced period of fasting has made them hungry. About the time that the country boy shows up at his "fishin' hole," he finds a concentration of hungry fish all ready to go on a feeding spree. Small wonder that he has found it profitable to take a good wetting now and then. He knows he'll catch a fish when he goes fishing in the rain.

THUNDERSTORMS are something else again. It is difficult even to generalize about these, as seldom are two of them alike. All of us have had good fishing before, during, and after thunderstorms. Conversely, we have seen thunderstorms ruin the fishing completely. I think that the key lies in the behavior of the barometer at these times.

Thunderstorms can be divided into two general groups—the "twisters" and the "rollers." Obviously, the barometric characteristics of these disturbances follow no set pattern. You can make your own rules, but the chances are that you'll have to revise them with the very next storm.

Some folks maintain that thunder spoils the fishing. This may be true to some extent but a favorable barometric situation will more than offset what damage may be caused by thunder.

If luck is with you, you may be fortunate enough to find a Solunar Period this season that coincides with a gentle summer rain. If you can stumble upon this happy combination—a gentle rain, a rising glass and a Solunar Period—you are pretty sure to have some fishing that you won't forget in a hurry. We hit one such combination back in 1944. For several hours prior to the arrival of the rain the fish had been quiet. Then came a gentle rain, a steadying of the glass, and a Solunar Period. For two hours or more the stream fairly boiled with rising trout. It will pay you, regardless of the state of the weather, to keep track of the daily solunar periods.

South Side Ladies Score First Triumph

There's joy on Whyte Avenue today—tons of it. Last night at Kingsway Mike Panchychn's South Side femmes won their first game of the year in the Senior Ladies Fastball League, trimming Walk-Rites 5-3. South Side juniors trampled Maple Leafs 11-2 in the first game of the twin bill.

And just by way of making last evening a jubilant one for South Side Ball fans the junior baseball team from across the river held Maple Leafs to a 9-9 stalemate at Clarke Stadium.

The South Side ladies fashioned their first triumph in 13 starts with a story book finish. They were all even at 3-3 with Walkies before stashing it away with two in the top of the ninth.

MILLIE BROWN walked to start the South Side ninth, and reached second on a fielders' choice. She scored the winning tally on a two-base muff at second base. Gay Sherwood got to second on the same error, pilfered third, and then crossed the platter when Audrey Wellman dragged a bunt down the third base line.

It was a sweet one to win for the game South Side nine.

In the junior men's fastball tussle South Side burst loose with six runs in the fifth to crumple the Leafs. A wild melee of hits, walks, stolen bases, wild pitches, and errors turned the game into a rout for South Side at this stage.

ARNIE WINGROVE toted the big bat for South Side, bashing out two of their six hits. The big noise for Leafs was Ken Kuchinski. He lined a triple into right field on the first, and scored on a fielder's choice.

Chopping Of Hay Is New Farm Way

The old reliable hay fork appears doomed to take its place among the relics of a past era. Keeping in step with the technological revolution which has taken place in other phases of farming, haying has now been streamlined by the introduction of completely mechanized outfits which reduce cutting, hauling and storing to a minimum of human labor.

During a recent tour of the state of Vermont to study the latest in pasture improvement work, technical representatives had the opportunity of seeing modern hay making machinery in action. They saw the cutting operation performed by a "self-powered" harvester pulled by a tractor.

This machine mows the standing hay and reduces it to one to two-inch lengths by means of sharp blades on a revolving drum. Mounted on the rear, a conventional-type blower elevates the cut hay to a special wagon which is pulled alongside. The wagon boxes are equipped with movable canvas aprons for ease in unloading.

From the wagons the chopped hay is fed steadily into a blower to elevate the feed to a hay mow or silo. This blower is similar to an ordinary silo filler but has no knives.

When the hay crop is harvested green it is stored in a silo for hay silage with oat chop added as a preservative at the rate of approximately one and one-half bags per ton. If dry feed is desired, the crop is cut with a mower and cured in the field. In this case a pick-up attachment is employed in front of the harvester.

The same equipment may be used to harvest corn.

CAPITAL INCREASED

OTTAWA, (CP)—The commons banking commerce committee approved a bill amending the Canada Permanent Trust Co. act to allow the company to increase its capital stock from the present $1,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Company officials said the firm had received approximately $68,000,000 in trust assets and that the directors felt the capital base should be expanded. It was planned to make an initial issue of $1,000,000, which would be subscribed by the Canada Permanent Mortgage Corporation, owners.

GOLD MINES RECORD

Paul Gallico Says:

There is a gent loose in our section of the country whom I have not yet been able to locate or identify, due to press of other business, but when I do, he had better be prepared, because he owes me $660,000, and I would like to collect so that I can pay off a few small bills and, quite naturally, give the rest to the government.

This money is owing to me on a horse, and when I explain the circumstances of the debt to you, I am sure you will agree with me that it is quite proper and legal, and the sooner the person comes forth and hands it over, the better for all concerned, and, besides, maybe this animal is scheduled to run again soon and I will want to have some funds to get another small bet down.

GALLICO

It seems that some party or parties acquired a beast of the type which enjoys contending with other animals on a dirt track for cash and honor, and this individual bestowed the name of Snow Goose upon this horse and that is the name under which it operates.

A Moral Debt

Now, there is no law which says that an owner cannot confer any monicker he likes upon his faithful steed, always providing that some other carrier has not been similarly named, and I am not planning to make a legal issue out of this. I maintain this is a moral debt, and therefore much stronger than if the law were involved. For, some six or seven years ago, I wrote a little story entitled "The Snow Goose," which later was brought out as a book, and to date has sold more than half a million copies in Canada, the U. S., Great Britain, the Antipodes (wherever they are), and other foreign countries, and is about to become a moving picture next year.

Thus, as you may well imagine, I have a soft spot in my heart for that title, not to mention the bird itself and I may be said to be sentimentally inclined towards anything involving that big black and white Canadian honker.

So, along comes some guy and names his geegee after this bird. I have no way of ascertaining at the moment whether he named it after the story or not, but I do not feel that this changes the aspect of his moral obligation. It was his duty to drop me a line—"Hey Gallico: I have just acquired a goat which I have named Snow Goose. I understand you did pretty well with a story by that name. Maybe you would like to have a small bet down when I send this hay-burner out for more than exercise."

Sentimental Bet

Naturally, I will not wager less than one hundred dollars for sentiment's sake on this bag of glue, particularly since public opinion is against its chances of finishing one circuit of the track on the same day it starts.

But I do not know that such a horse even exists. So what happens? Snow Goose starts in a plater's race in Maryland and wins, paying sixty to one. That is $6,000 for me, if only I know about it.

Now I have six grand, and naturally follow the subsequent career of Snow Goose with increased interest. I would have noted that Snow Goose was entered in a merry-go-round at Belmont. Now naturally, being a graduate of the sports world, I will show that Snow Goose having won once, is moved up in his class with the jock probably lugging some extra bars of lead in the saddle bags to satisfy the handicapper. So I will have nothing to do with the area of his nose in making my wager. I will shoot the whole six thousand back on him to run third, or show.

I've Been Robbed!

So what happens? Snow Goose runs third at Belmont and pays 110 to 1, to show. That's $660,000 for my end, except I only hear about this noble steed last week when it is all over, and at no time have I had so much as a dime involved.

I want my $660,000.

I feel very strongly about this and am prepared to make an issue out of it. Defrauding the federal treasury, that's what it is, and the proprietor of this rapid flea-bag had better make his peace with the Government, if not with me, for depriving it of some $600,000 in taxes which I would have paid if only he had notified me about naming the horse.

Why I might even have taken a flyer and wagered $250 on the race. Wait a minute. That's $15,000 back on the original wager at 60 to 1, bet it back to show at . . . Hey, wait a minute! That would be $1,650,000. I'd be a millionaire. Police! I've been robbed!

New Position

RICHARD V. DAVIES

Co-op Wholesale Appoints Manager

The board of the Alberta Co-operative Wholesale Association announced Tuesday the appointment of Richard V. Davies as general manager. He succeeds to the position left vacant by the recent death of David Smeaton who was a pioneer of the co-operative movement in Alberta.

Appointment was announced by J. Russell Love, association president, who also announced that A. Murray Demings, ACWA treasurer, was appointed in charge of finance and credit for the wholesale and insurance departments as well as office management.

A native of the Marwayne district, Mr. Davies engaged in co-operative work on finishing his education at Alberta College. He specialized in hardware household and farm appliances in association with J. Russell Love in the Edmonton Co-operative Limited.

On his discharge from the army after four years overseas Mr. Davies joined the staff of the ACWA and trained under the management of the late Mr. Smeaton.

A central bookkeeping service will also be set up under direction of Mr. Demings. This is aimed at providing an accounting service for ACWA units who are not in a position to maintain a full time bookkeeper.

It was stressed that units requiring this service or information on the new setup should get in touch with the ACWA.

Escaped Prisoner Nabbed at Camrose

The prisoner escaped when being taken to the Tegler building for a skull x-ray.

Many Motorists Careless

Cab Driver Receives Second Safety Award

A great deal more care in driving was in evidence on city streets this morning while police were in search of the second safety driver in the current safety drive. Many motorists, though, officials stated, still are not watching the small things, such as turning left at the centre point, not indicating turns, failing to stop for through stops. These things add up to many accidents officials stated.

Today's winner of the 10-gallons of gas, awarded by Edmonton's Safety Council, was Englebert Sbonnel, 10130 154 street, driver of a Yellow Taxi cab. Mr. Sbonnel, veteran of the Second World War, spent four years with the Fifth Division, serving in the Army Service Corps as a driver. In all his 22 years of driving Mr. Sbonnel has never had an accident. He has been driving for the Yellow Taxi company for the last year.

Mr. Sbonnel was followed from 104 street and 104 avenue, to the CNR station, where he picked up his fare and then proceeded east to 97 street and north on 97 street to 118 avenue, at which point he turned east, and was followed to the Fort Trail. During all this time Mr. Sbonnel was meticulous in his driving, not failing once to observe traffic safety rules.

Cedric Ward, 14425 Summit Drive, was winner of the Safety Council bicycle riding award today. Mr. Ward was followed from 115 street to 100A street, during which time he was careful of all safety rules. Mr. Ward chose as his award a new pair of bicycle pedals for his racer.

Action was started this morning on the safety zone signs at 100 street. The signs, which are too low for accurate vision on the driver's part are to be raised higher.

Dining Car Becomes Chapel

Edmonton Girl Is Married In Ceremony Aboard Train

Miss Frances Freeman, 10129 102 street, is believed to be the first Canadian bride to marry in an "on-a-train" ceremony, when she pledged the sacred vows Sunday night, aboard the CPR's Vancouver bound "Mountaineer."

The bride, a former stenographer with the John Deere Plow Company, and the bridegroom, Robert A. Riley 143 Lower Keith Road, North Vancouver, stepped off the train at 11:40 a.m. in Vancouver Monday amid hearty congratulations of the many passengers, and train crew.

"We really intended to be married in Vancouver," explained the blushing bride. "Instead of the dress I intended to wear, I wore this," and she pointed to a blouse and an informal skirt.

We were talked into it by the dining crew," said the proud Riley, himself a CPR dining car steward. While the dining car crew and other helpful passengers worked at top speed turning the dining car into a chapel, complete with wedding cake, a wire was forwarded to the Rev. L. G. Sieber, United Church minister at Revelstoke.

Mr. Seiber, boarded the train at Revelstoke, after cutting his regular Sunday service short, performed the ceremony between there and Sicamous, where the minister got off.

The wedding ceremony was performed at 9 p.m., but there is still a lot of confusion as to whether the train was moving or stationary.

To make every detail as real as possible, Train Conductor Jack Knox, Kamloops, gave the bride away. Best man was Sleeping Car Conductor Fred Lavoratta, Vancouver.

Miss Freeman's bouquet consisted of a varied assortment of wild flowers picked along the railway tracks.

More than 80 interested passengers from many parts of Canada and the U.S. witnessed the ceremony.

Not taking any chances of forgetting anything, the bridegroom had picked up the wedding license in Vancouver, prior to coming to Edmonton to meet Miss Freeman.

Two passengers, Helen James, and Sue Broyles of Chica, Cal., were flower girls.

Departmental Report Shows

Alberta School Pupils Retain High Standards

Despite the fact that school operation is most unsatisfactory at the present time, due to the teacher shortage, pupils in Alberta elementary schools maintain the same level of competence as they have in previous years, according to a report released today by Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education.

THE REPORT revealed the results of a group of objective tests administered to all Grade 6 pupils in the province, to establish data respecting the level of competence of pupils as they leave the elementary school, at a time when a revision of the elementary school program is about to be put into effect.

In a few years by giving the same or similiar tests, it can be determined whether in these respects the level of achievement has risen or fallen.

IN ALL, 13,250 pupils were given objective tests covering arithmetic, reading comprehension, and language. All testing materials were prepared here except the reading tests, which were commercially standardized tests.

In the reading field, the results were compared with established averages, and it was found that the pupils tested this year made exactly the same average, or norm, as was established under more favorable circumstances in the past.

Dr. Swift termed this result as "somewhat heartening" in view of the unsatisfactory school situation as a result of the teacher shortage.

Although the primary purpose of the scores is to provide data for comparisons in the future, it is being used now to advise superintendents of schools of the standings of their schools with the rest of the province so that weak subjects may be recognized and corrected.

The average score in city schools exceeds the average score of schools in school divisions, it was stated in the report.

Dad Often Shoved Into Background

We make such a fetish of motherhood that we almost over-look the fact that children also have fathers. We have put Mother on a pedestal and burned incense before her. We celebrate Mother's Day with gifts that make her a runner-up for Santa Claus. Poor, self-sacrificing Mother is the favorite heroine of our maudlin fiction and any mammy song is a tear-jerker.

But few and far between are the bouquets that are thrown at Father. In the average household he is just Jones who pays the freight, who never makes enough money to satisfy his greedy family and who is expected to retire to the background after he has passed around cigars on Junior's birth and never heard of again until some domestic crisis arises.

OF COURSE, biologically and socially, fathers are a necessity, but after that Mother takes over. She rules the roost. She assumes exclusive possesion of the children and always speaks of them as "my son" or "my daughter," and Father interferes with her plans at his peril.

The result of Mother running the show is tragic from every angle. For one thing, it keeps the children and their father from ever getting acquainted with each other, and that is an irreparable misfortune to both of them. The old story about the little boy who asked his mother who was that strange man who sat around the house on Sundays is no merry jest. It is a cold, hard fact. And I personally knew of one nearly grown lad who was astonished to find out that father was a famous man. "Why," he exclaimed, "I didn't know Papa was anybody."

It is enough to make anyone weep to think of a man spending his life toiling to support a bunch of kids who regard him as nothing but a cash register, and who give him none of the affection that alone would pay him for his years of servitude. But how could it be otherwise when their mother has never taught them to love and respect their father, but, on the contrary, has held him as a threat of punishment over their heads?

Perhaps the greatest of all the tragedies of children being practically fatherless, so far as their upbringing goes, is if they have a weak and silly mother she wrecks them in the rearing and their father has to stand helplessly by, impotent to save them.

NO ONE WHO faces the juvenile delinquent problem honestly but who knows that it is largely the result of fathers taking no part in the bringing up of their children. For there comes a time in the life of every adolescent boy and girl when they need the strong hand of a man, instead of the weak one of a woman over them. No matter how much the teen-agers may love their mothers, they have a certain contempt for them. They think that just because Mother is a woman she knows nothing of the world, but they listen to Father's counsel and take his guidance, because they know that he knows the road they are just starting to travel.

When Mother edges Father out of the family circle because she wants to be all-in-all to her children, she makes a fatal mistake. It takes two people working together, to do the job of rearing a family properly. Otherwise the good Lord wouldn't have bothered to make both mothers and fathers.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

Here is an interesting hand you can try out on your friends to find out how they would arrive at a contract of seven. Using the Blackwood convention it is easy to find out that South has one ace. But unless North and South have a variation which gives South an opportunity to name the ace later, North will not know whether it is the club ace or spade ace. If you cuebid you can show the ace of clubs, but can you also show the king?

I thought Fred L. Karpin of Washington did a good job on the bidding of this hand. Karpin realized that there must be a slam in the hand if his partner had an honest opening bid. Of course, his partner could have the ace-king of spades and the king of diamonds, or even the king-queen of diamonds. With these and two small clubs a slam would be impossible.

Karpin decided that he would not try to convey any information on his hand. He was going to seek information only. If he had two hearts over one diamond, which would be a slam try bid, he never could be quite sure of the club suit. So he decided to bid two clubs and see if his partner at any time would voluntarily support clubs.

When South bid three clubs, Karpin knew that he had some strength in that suit. Then came the heart bid, followed by South's three no trump, which gave further evidence of a fit in clubs.

The four-spade bid by Karpin was a cue-bid, and when South jumped to six clubs, Karpin felt confident that he must have the ace and king of clubs. Certainly the worst he could have would be the ace and jack of clubs, in which case the contract might be made on a finesse.

As long as he was trying for a slam, the heart slam was the safer choice. It was the higher-ranking suit, and also there was less possibility of a club ruff on the opening lead than of a heart ruff.

Why Grow Old?

ACTRESS NANCY SAUNDERS starts the day off right by making imaginary circles with her feet to promote a lovely ankle. Josephine Lowman suggests other early morning rising exercises which may be done in bed.

By Josephine Lowman

There is a remedy.
No hard, bare floors will you require.
For figure aymetry.
Before you get up in the morn,
Just exercise ahead.
Stay slim and lovely as you wish,
By "setting up" in bed.

This week "Why Grow Old" has already given exercises for improving the neck and chinline, the waist, diaphragm and abdomen. Today we will work a little on the contour of the legs.

Do the following exercise for slimming the ankles: Sit on the edge of the bed and make circles with your feet. Circle in one direction for awhile and then in the other.

For slimming the calves, lie on the bed on your back and place your heels on top of the headboard. Pull the toes back toward your head. Relax. Pull back again. Continue pulling the toes back toward your head and then relaxing.

Thighs must always come in for their share of any figure molding program, because sooner or later, practically every woman notices a bulge in this spot. Do the following exercise: Lie on your back. Grasp the edge of the bed with your hands; one hand on each side. Make large circles with your left leg. After a time, make large circles with your right leg.

An exercise for inner leg flabiness: Lie on your left side on the edge of the bed. Place your right leg along the edge of the bed. Let your left leg drop toward the floor. Grasp the edge of the bed with your right hand. Lift the left leg upward as far as you can. Lower toward floor. Continue, lifting and lowering. Turn onto your right side and do the exercise.

If you wish to have my leaflet No. 27, "Setting Up in Bed," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Eire Wants Rule Whole of Ireland

DUBLIN, July 8—(CP)—Prime Minister De Valera, terming the separation of Eire and Northern Ireland a "cruel wrong", has called on the British government for a declaration that it wants to see partition ended.

Reiterating that Eire is a "republican state" which uses King George VI only as an instrument to facilitate diplomatic relations with other countries, he told the Dail that "if at any time the government has a desire to get rid of that we can do so."

Force must not be used to wipe out partition, the prime minister said during a debate on the estimates. That would leave the state in an unstable position. Persuasion was the only answer; and that meant concurrence of the governments of Eire, Northern Ireland and Britain.

Claim Bevin Seeks To Split Europe

MOSCOW, July 8—(AP)—The Soviet press and radio Monday accused Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain of seeking—on instructions from Washington—to split Europe into two camps in connection with the Marshall proposal for continental reconstruction.

A dispatch from London to Tass news agency said this alleged move had the "unconditional support" of Foreign Minister Bideault of France.

This "American decoy" in the form of aid excites some British and French leaders to "obedience," the dispatch said.

The Soviet Weekly New Times predicted failure of the proposals of State Secretary Marshall of the United States and questioned whether there would be any American help for Europe.

Garbo to Accept $20,000 Legacy

ALLEGAN, Mich., July 8 —(AP)—Greta Garbo will accept the $20,000 willed to her by an eccentric British-born Allegan County recluse who died last October without ever having seen her, the administratrix for the estate said Saturday.

Mrs. Marjorie Lee Luna, appointed by probate judge Irving J. Tucker to settle the estate of Edgar Donne, said she had received from the film star a letter of acceptance which would be filed in court Monday.

Brazil possesses 27,318 miles of navigable rivers.

Urges Govts. Share Cost of Services

WINNIPEG, July 8—(CP)—Cost of social services including hospital services and education must be carried by federal and provincial governments and not by municipalities, Mayor Percy George of Victoria said today.

In an address before the convention of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, Mr. George called for a new approach to the problem of providing the services.

While more flexible revenues of senior governments showed a steady rise, municipal revenues based largely on real estate taxes showed no corresponding increase, he said.

Mr. George, presenting the brief on behalf of the municipalities of British Columbia, said the costs of educaton and hospital services at the same time climbed steadily and municipal governments were finding themselves in a difficult position.

A-Bomb Stockpile "Necessity" to U.S.

WASHINGTON, July 8—(AP)—Senator Brien McMahon (Dem.-Conn.) declared Sunday that the "present state of the world" requires the United States to continue the manufacture and stockpiling of atomic bombs.

McMahon, former chairman of the Senate's atomic energy committee, said "I don't see any other way out of manufacturing bombs and continuing to manufacture them in the present state of the world." His remarks were prepared for broadcast.

Sounds Fishy

FORT ERIE, Ont., July 8—(CP)—This you won't believe but—

While swimming near here yesterday Robert H. Carlson, 13, of Buffalo, N.Y., dove in after a fish had broken the surface of the water, grabbed it by the tail and came up with a 7¼-pound, 30-inch pike.

Sure it sounds fishy, but the kid can round up 50 witnesses to say they saw him do it.

THE RED FOX

Among the wild relatives of the dog, the red fox is the best known to most people. Civilization holds no terrors for this animal. Give it a limited amount of woodland, a bush lot or two, or a meadow in which to hunt mice, and it is at home, even using the cultivated fields of a farm as hunting grounds.

The red fox has a very extensive range. In North America, it is found throughout Alaska, all of Canada except the northernmost part, and in every state in the United States except Florida. It is not limited to North America, in its many species and sub-species, it is found throughout much of the Northern Hemisphere — Europe, most of Asia and northern Africa. It has also been introduced into Australia.

Throughout its range, mice and other small rodents make up a large portion of the food of the red fox. Other small mammals, also birds, eggs, reptiles, insects, fruits and berries are included in his fare. Many people believe that poultry and game birds form the red fox's chief bill of fare, but these fowl make only a small percentage of his diet.

The home of the red fox is generally a hole dug in a bank. In the spring the young are born in this den. They may number from four to nine. Both the father and mother are devoted parents and scour the countryside for food which they bring home to the young. The cubs stay in or near the den for about three months, after that they follow their parents on hunting expeditions.

The red fox is constantly being hunted by men with dogs, and is also trapped and poisoned. Yet for all that, the animal is well able to take care of himself. In Europe and in some sections of the United States, hunts are held where a fox is followed by trained hounds and mounted hunters until he is run down and captured by the dogs.

Color phases (changes) of the red fox frequently occur. The black fox, silver fox and cross fox are all true red foxes, and a litter may contain any of these colors and red as well. Due to the fact that the black and silver skins are of considerable value, large numbers of these foxes are being bred in captivity.

THE GRAY FOX

The gray fox is found throughout southern North America, its range extending as far south as Colombia in northern South America.

This fox is a grizzled gray and black. On the back of the ears, sides of the neck and sides of the forelegs, the color is reddish brown. The fur is coarser than that of the red fox and is of little value commercially.

Although lacking the cunning of the red fox and being consequently more readily trapped, the gray fox still multiplies close to civilization. The writer has seen the den of one of these foxes and four of the cubs within the limits of New York City.

The gray fox is noted for his ability to climb; in this skill he exceeds all other dogs. Not only will he seek shelter in a tree when pursued, but he has even been observed sleeping or sunning himself on a hawk's or a squirrel's nest high up among the branches.

Your Baby and Mine

April Lynn, age 14 months, daughter of Const. and Mrs. C. B. Croft of 10464 78 avenue.

No really loving parent intends to show partiality to one or another of her children. She is the last one to be conscious that she is giving that impression. But some behavior is natural to her. She tends to champion the right of the baby. She is apt to give the greatest privileges to the first-born whose coming was an event in her life impossible to duplicate no matter how many subsequent children she bears.

Children are sensitive to their parents' treatment. They feel bitter when they are denied pleasures or the parents act severely towards them. The commonplace cry, "Oh, you're so mean to me," reveals the depths of their distress when a parent is compelled to scold or punish them or prohibit their desires.

Children are apt to look at some other member of the family and think that he or she is enjoying more privileges, or getting off without punishment for behavior that merits it. Few children have any keen sense of superiority or consider themselves of paramount importance to their parents. Just the opposite. The very nature of parental discipline tends to tear down the child instead of building him up.

He is a poor judge of a parents' real emotion toward him. The parent expects the love to be taken for granted, but she exhibits stronger and more dramatic emotions of shame and anger toward his conduct, which convince him that he is a humiliation and not an object of pride to her.

A mother has to be self-conscious of her behavior and how it appears to the eyes of the child. Is she more demonstrative toward the baby? Does she pile privileges on the older child? Does she make one child "give in" more than she does another? It will help if she explains that one treated him the same as a baby and will treat the baby similarly when he is older, and try to make the sharing fifty-fifty.

Parents may be partial to the child who gives them the least trouble, thus aggravating the condition since the favored child has fewer reasons to be obnoxious and the non-favored one an increased burden of grievances.

Partiality, whatever the reason, leaves an ugly, ineradicable wound. A child must believe in his parents' fairness and justice if he is to grow up without suspicion of all other persons.

Males Lead In Steno Field

WINNIPEG, July 8. — (CP) — Women had better look to their laurels in one field which has generally been conceded to them. A survey conducted by the National Employment Service here indicates that on the average men are better at shorthand and typewriting than women.

However, the agency offers a word of warning to any male who might become a bit puffy—a girl holds the speed typing record of 84 words a minute.

While reluctantly admitting men to be superior in this field on the average, Miss Georgia Porter, testing officer, observed it was hardly fair to draw comparisons. Out of 142 applicants tested in the first three and a half months only 11 were males. The tone of her voice suggested that possibly the "deck had been stacked."

Miss Porter believes that the reason for the better showing of the men in tests is because they take them more seriously than women. Incidentally, it is the man who holds the perfect score for shorthand—120 words a minute. Miss Porter says the tests began early in April with an average of three persons a day being examined. The tests are entirely voluntary and are not in any sense an examination.

W. H. Darracott, district manager of the employment service, said the tests have been accepted by both employers and applicants.

They are used simply as a measure to assist an applicant in finding a job he or she can handle, he said. He cited the case of an employer who took a girl who could only do 20 words a minute on the typewriter. He told the service that "in spite of her slowness at least I know what I can expect."

Mrs. James M. Fraser, accompanied by her daughter Jeanne, left Sunday for a two-week holiday at Vancouver.

Borstall Girls Start Anew

By MICHAEL O'MARA

EAST SUTTON PARK, England, July 8. — (CP) — A 16th-century country house in this Kent town, oak-panelled with coats-of-arms adorning its walls, has become the first "open" corrective institution for young women in Britain.

The girls, ranging in age from 18 to 22, do all their own work and make their own rules of behavior. Only when they leave the 65-acre grounds, as they frequently do, are they under supervision. The Prison Commission took over the house and estate last October and sent several "Borstal" girls, all with theft records, to the house to "start from scratch."

THEY FOUND it white with dust and its three and a half-acre kitchen garden overgrown after years of disuse. Seven volunteer teachers watched while the girls selected curtain-materials and other decorations to "make a home" for themselves.

The house now is spotless, its floors gleaming, its curtains gay, its furniture well cared for.

Thirteen other girls since have joined the original seven.

There are no punishments here and the only house-rules are those drawn up by the girls themselves. They work happily, practically without supervision. Mary, a red-headed Scot, paused while hoeing potatoes to remark proudly, "We had potatoes out of our own garden for dinner last Sunday." She pointed out the peach orchards, cucumber houses, mulberry bushes, pig pens and bee hives.

EACH NEW arrival spends two months in the kitchen, laundry, sewing room and garden, and after that chooses her own work. Mary chose the garden, but says she plans to become a children's nurse when she is released.

In the sewing room five girls were designing, cutting and piecing together dresses, underclothes and night-dresses for themselves and other members of the community. Polly was supervising in the absence on holiday of the mistress-in-charge.

Vases of flowers stood about the house and the girls' rooms were decorated with pin-ups of movie and stage stars. The girls may entertain village women and receive visitors.

Says Jasper Fine Resort

JASPER, July 8—Alina Hoen of New York is a very efficient person. If not, she wouldn't be enjoying herself for "three grand days" at famed Jasper Park Lodge up here in the Canadian Rockies. Her original vacation plans had called for two weeks with relatives in Baltimore. But Alina's competency changed all that and the two weeks at Baltimore will be only part of a seven week holiday.

Back in 1929 a thoughtful and wealthy depositor of the City Bank Farmers Trust Company, New York, established a trust fund from which each accumulated $1,000 was to be awarded to the most efficient employe of the firm. Miss Hoen is just that, selected by the company itself and the latest to win the award.

A proviso is that the money must be used for vacation purposes and suggests Europe if possible. Alina, however, wanted to see Canada's golden west. A CNR passenger agent drew up an itinerary and she boarded the Montreal train at New York June 9. From Montreal she crossed Canada to Vancouver. A quick change there and she was on the steamer for Alaska. Then back again and by rail to Jasper—and her only remorse.

Even a dream holiday is not perfect. Her short stay at Jasper Park Lodge ends soon and Miss Hoen is not happy. "I can't see how anything before me can be as nice" she says but realizes that last minute changes in travel plans are disrupting and will keep to her schedule until July 28, bowing to efficiency.

On that day, the charming and attractive vice-president's secretary will have to turn her able mind once more to business. Unfortunately for her though, she is not eligible for a second award.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a Dear Son, Walter (Wally) Elsden, who passed away July 8, 1944.

I lost a son with a heart of gold,
Dearer to me than wealth untold.
Unseen by the world, stands by my side,
And whispers (Don't cry Mom, death cannot divide).
Every hour we dearly miss him,
Sadly do we feel his loss,
Lonely is our home without him,
Help us Lord to bear the cross.

Lovingly remembered by Mother, Juanita and Eddie.

Outlaw Strikes At Rocket Range

CANBERRA, Australia, (ONA) — Strikes by any workers on the rocket range to be constructed in central Austrial have been outlawed by government action. Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley brought the range under the protection of the approved defence projcets bill by filing a formal notice to that effect in the commonwealth Gazette.

Such action makes it an offense to impede any work on the project by individuals or organizational groups.

Hate Training Backfires On Army

LONDON, (CP)—"Hate training" at army battle schools was stopped during the war because psychiatrists were against it, says a report on the work of psychiatrists in the services.

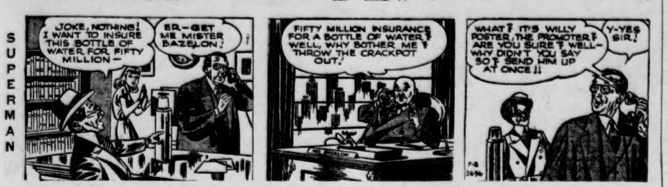

Training in hate, the report said, was done by stimulating excitement through savage, bloodthirsty cries, display of atrocity photographs, visits to slaughter houses and by throwing blood about the training area during exercises.

The training was later banned on the advice of a psychiatrist who said it "might increase incidence of breakdown, fainting and vomiting."

Draft Program for Alexanders' Visit

Vice-Regal Party Here July 17

Viscount Alexander's family will see the Edmonton Exhibition on Thursday, July 17, but whether His Excellency does or not is dependent on the length of the investiture at the Legislative Building, when 56 personnel will receive decorations.

The investiture is part of the program planned for the Governor-General during his one-day stop in Edmonton on July 17.

Rose, Shane, and Brian Alexander, and their seven-year old English guest, Peter Smith, godson of Lady Alexander, will be the guests of Mayor Harry Ainlay and Mrs. Ainlay for the afternoon of July 17 at the exhibition.

Lady Alexander will lunch and spend the afternoon with His Honor Lt.-Gov. J. C. Bowen and Mrs. Bowen.

His Excellency will begin the investiture at 1:45 p.m. If the ceremony is completed by 3 p.m. he will visit the exhibition, but if it is not, then he will return to the vice-regal cars at the CNR station and wait until his family arrives about 4:30 when they will prepare to leave for the North Country.

Included on the agenda of the one-day program are a reception at the CNR station at 8:45 a.m. July 17, when civic, provincial, and military officials will officially welcome Viscount Alexander and his party; and a trip to the Leduc sector of the Edmonton oil fields.

During the trip through Canada's northland, Viscount and Lady Alexander will visit Grande Prairie, where His Excellency will officiate at a short investiture during the 15-minute stop there; Dawson Creek, where a public reception, another small investiture, and a dinner with the chamber of commerce are on the agenda; Fort Nelson; and Whitehorse, where Lady Alexander will leave for Vancouver. The governor-general will continue on to Norman Wells, Port Radium, Yellowknife, and back to Edmonton by July 30.

Lady Alexander will meet Viscount Alexander here on July 30 and they will proceed immediately to Eastern Canada.

Chiefs of the Kiwanis International

Officers elected to head the Kiwanis International during the 32nd annual convention at Chicago, recently, gather around a club symbol. Left to right are: CHARLES H. WILSE, of Ottawa, vice-president for Canada; DR. CHARLES W. ARMSTRONG, Salisbury, N.C. International president; J. BELMONT MOSSER, St. Mary's, Pa., International treasurer, and HARRISON U. WOOD, of Racine, Wis., vice-president for the U.S.A.

Dining "corner": Make it easy for yourself! Eat right in the kitchen . . . in front of a cool "herb garden" window. Use a "dining table" that drops down out of the way between meals . . . And then — most important of all — put down a sparkling bright Gold Seal Congoleum rug! Its smooth surface is easy to clean with the swish of a damp cloth. And durable! Why, its wear-layer of heat-toughened paint and baked enamel is actually equal in thickness to 8 coats of best floor paint applied by hand. But — when you buy your Congoleum rug — look for the familiar Gold Seal. Without it — remember! — it isn't Congoleum. You'll be surprised how much quality you can buy for so little money.

OUT OF THE WEST!

NEARLY 50 years ago the Bapco plant began the manufacture of a product that today is one of the best known brand names in Western Canada.

No let down of strict control of output as to quality has been allowed during these years, which is responsible for the outstanding success of these paints, enamels and varnishes.

During the war, Bapco paints were chosen by many Government Departments and branches of the Services, for jobs that needed the best — the scientifically proven best.

Having built up this confidence in product, British America Paint Co., Ltd. is continually testing, improving and increasing its output to keep up to the demand for good, durable, yet economical paint products.

Undulant Fever Case Reported Here

One case of undulant fever, and one of diphtheria were reported during the week ended July 7, according to a statement filed with the city commissioners by Dr. G. M. Little, medical officer of health.

The undulant fever case is that of a man, now being treated in the Colonel Mewburn Pavilion. Civic health authorities are seeking the source of the disease.

The diphtheria case is that of an infant child. The patient is responding to treatment in the isolation hospital, and is now on the way to recovery.

During the week, 41 cases of communicable disease were reported to the health department, compared with 81 the previous week. Chickenpox cases declined from 29 to 17; measles from 14 to five; mumps from 10 to two, scarlet fever from nine to one, and whooping cough from 17 to 14.

Mobile Pickets Busy in London

LONDON, July 8—(Reuters)—Mobile pickets with automobiles, motorcycles and bicycles stood by in South London today as striking clerks tried a new plan to close all the 131 branches of the Royal Arsenal Co-operative Society and cut off foods and rations for about 540,000 families.

As the strike entered its third day, special "contract" pickets went to each branch early, ready to telephone reports through to strike headquarters should any of the clerks try to return to work. Mobile pickets were then to be rushed to these shops.

The strikers, who are demanding higher wages and complain their union was too slow in pressing their claim, estimated today that more than 3,500 shop assistants out of 4,000 had stopped work, and that more than 100 of the shops were affected.

Urges Licensing Of Coast Bookies

VANCOUVER, July 8—(CP)—Licensing and registration of bookmakers and a suitable plan of liquor distribution were recommended Saturday by Judge R. A. Sargent, a member of the Vancouver police commission.

He made the recommendations in reviewing the police department shakeup here early this year which resulted in dismissal or demotion of 25 police officers.

"It is quite evident," Judge Sargent said, "that a large proportion of the citizens of Vancouver do not regard betting on a horse race as a crime—or bookmakers would not flourish.

"Unless, therefore, you have a substantial majority of the citizens behind you, it is almost impossible to enforce any law."

The "common sense or realistic method of handling this problem would be to license and regulate bookmakers.

"The Dominion and provincial governments would then receive their racing taxes. The city would receive a license fee, and the ratepayers of Vancouver would be rid of the expense of this policing problem."

Four Provinces To Attend Parley

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., July 8—(CP)—Officials organizing a Western Canada Reclamation Association announced today that the four western provinces will be represented at the inaugural meeting here Friday. Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner will address the convention banquet Friday night and it is expected he will make some announcement in connection with conservation and beneficial use of Western Canada waters.

Army Makes War On Unclean Milk

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—Canadian Army authorities have declared war on unsanitary milk vendors, an army headquarters source said yesterday. Restaurants or vendors whose milk and milk products do not come up to provincial or municipal regulations or satisfy the medical officer of the area, will be placed "out of bounds" by the army, to protect the health of servicemen and their families.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Association will attend the funeral of Andrew McCulloch, a past president, at the Foster and McGarvey chapel at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Berets and arm bands will be worn. Mr. McCulloch died Monday.

U.S. Army Puts Out Book on Red Spies

WASHINGTON, July 8—(AP)—The war department disclosed yesterday an army-wide distribution of copies of "Soviet-Spies—The Story of Russian Espionage in North America." It said this book, by Richard Hirsch, is a "publication of timely interest to every member of the military establishment.' The circular says the book —not an official war department document—reports on "the breaking of the atomic bomb espionage ring in North America." An official said the book generally contains material which has been published previously.

Begin Writing Report on Radio

OTTAWA, July 8—(CP)—The radio committee of the Commons met in camera today to begin work on a report which likely will deal with the contentious question of whether the control of radio broadcasting in Canada should be placed in the hands of a body other than the CBC.

The question loomed prominently in the evidence heard by the 25-man committee since last May 9 and is not likely to be overlooked as members sift through recommendations in the drafting of the report, probably the final one to be made this session.

One prominent member of the committee said he thought there was little chance of a majority of members reconsidering acceptance of the requests made by the Canadian Association of Broadcasters and the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association for an "independent" body to license and regulate radio in Canada.

Under the existing set-up the CBC regulates radio broadcasting while the transport department issues radio station licences on recommendations of the CBC board of governors. The members did not think there would be any major change in this set-up.

He said the committee might recommend some change in the parliamentary handling of radio matters. Revenue Minister McCann now reports to parliament for the CBC while reconstruction Minister Howe handles the radio division of the transport department.

Original Member 49th Visits Here

One of the original officers of the 49th Battalion in the First Great War and a former city resident, Col. Richard Smith of the Indian Army is visiting briefly here.

Col. Smith who received his education in Edmonton, joined the 49th Battalion on its mobilization and went overseas in 1915. After a short stay in England, he transferred to the imperial Army, and has seen military service in a great many parts of the world during his 32 years of service.

During his short stop-over Col. Smith has visited with Dr. L. C. Harris then a new buddy, and an original medical officer with the "Forty-niners" during the initial war.

He was also reunited with a sister, Mrs. Connie Smith McIntyre, a former member of the Edmonton "Grads", now residing at Viking.

Although a member of the British Army, Col. Smith has just recently completed his first visit to the small island since 1937. When questioned on the domestic situation, he replied that in his opinion it is no better than during the recent war. "There is no variety in the rationed goods." However, "after living for five or six months in England, you don't notice it," he added.

"It is difficult to describe the old town," said Col. Smith.

When questioned on the standard of living in India, he replied that "it is hard to compare with other Asiatic countries, as I am not familiar with their standards." However, he added, "it would not compare with the luxurious living in Canada."

Goes to Giants

CHICAGO, July 8—(AP)—Thompson (Mickey) Livingston, catcher for Chicago Cubs, has been sent to New York Giants for the waiver price, James Gallagher, general manager of the Cubs announced Monday.

Additional Sport

"Terrible Twins" Pile Up 228 Runs

MANCHESTER, July 8—(Reuters)—England's sterling test batsmen, Bill Edrich and Denis Compton, Monday retrieved England from a poor start in the first innings of the third test cricket match against South Africa.

Middlesex' "terrible twins" had a third-wicket partnership of 228 after England's first two wickets fell for 48 runs. By close of play yesterday, second day of the three-day match, England had scored 311 runs for the loss of four wickets against South Africa's first-innings score of 339.

Edrich, batting three hours and 55 minutes, was 141, not out. Compton scored 115 before his wicket fell. It was his third successive century against the South Africans in test play.

St. Louis Browns Given 1948 Game

CHICAGO, July 8 —(AP)—The American and National League club owners, in a joint meeting Monday, awarded the 1948 all-star baseball game to the St. Louis Browns, and forestalled the Pacific Coast League's perennial plea for major league recognition.

In a separate session, the National League re-elected Ford Frick, 52-year-old former New York newspaper man and radio commentator, as president of the senior circuit for a four-year term.

The date of next year's all-star contest will not be set until later.

THE BIG LEAGUE magnates referred to baseball's executive council several other proposals, including the Pacific Coast League's petition that it be given a three-to-five year trial as a major league.

The two major leagues also referred to the executive council at its December meeting Los Angeles' bid for a major league club.

Eddie Johnson Rides 2 Winners

CALGARY, July 8—(CP)—Favorites took a trimming right through the seven-race card as the Stampede meeting moved through its second day here Monday. Jockey Eddie Johnson turned in another double victory to gain on leading rider Wayne Stevens, who had a singleton. Roy Russell and two winners and jockeys Bonein and Stacey had a leg up on the others.

Skirting Eagle returned the top straight price of the day with $38.05 for winning the fourth race. Miss Annie surprised in the first to pay $21.35 on the first half of a $102.30 daily double when coupled with King Black, winner of the second heat.

JUANITA VEE was a surprise winner of the third while Craiglagh closed a lot of ground in the 1 1-16 mile sixth to take command around the stretch turn and win easily. Star Destrer made all the run in the seventh and coupled with the favored Ideal Joe the quinella bet returned $9.55.

Seek Plebiscite On Daylight Saving

The provincial government will be asked to authorize the holding of a provincial plebiscite on daylight saving time, to be conducted simultaneously with voting at the next election, it was stated Monday by an official of the Alberta Farmers' Union.

Majority of the union's 800 locals opposed introduction of the fast time in resolutions adopted at their last convention.

At current conventions of the union's district AFU, speakers are stressing the importance of demanding that all trading points return to standard time by Aug. 1, and that no centre continue to drag out on the fast time beyond this government-approved date.

In Canadian Open

TORONTO, July 8 —(CP)—Latest entry in the $10,000 Canadian Open golf championship at the Toronto Scarboro Club July 16-19 is Ed (Porky) Oliver, who is playing off with Bobby Locke for the Tam O'Shanter championship at Chicago.
